Airfield near center of Hanoi bombed

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. warplanes bombed an airfield two miles from the center of Hanoi on Monday, the U.S. Command reported, and other military sources said American raiders returned to the Hanoi-Haiphong region again today for the fourth straight day.

The raid on the Bac Mai airfield and adjoining warehouses was the closest to the center of the North Vietnamese capital in the current air offensive, the command said. It reported four warehouses destroyed and nine others damaged.

Other U.S. jets used TV-guided bombs to damage a generator at a thermal power plant four miles northwest of Haiphong, a communique said. It reported a total of 320 strikes against North Vietnam Monday.

U.S. reports of the targets hit today and the damage done will not be available until Wednesday. But Hanoi Radio reported six American planes shot down, five of them over Hanoi, and said some of the pilots were captured.

Hanoi has claimed 23 U.S. planes downed in the last week, 17 of them in the last four days. The U.S. Command today reported its first loss in the North for that period, an Air Force F4 Phantom downed last Wednesday with the two crewmen missing. But military sources acknowledged that search and rescue operations for other downed pilots are still in progress.

Military sources also reported that the North Vietnamese have begun construction of a petroleum pipeline from the Chinese border toward Hanoi in an apparent effort to counter the U.S. bombing.

They said the project probably accounts for some of the "new forces" which the North Vietnamese radio said Monday have joined the struggle to repair the damage done by the massive bombing campaign.

In the ground war, South Vietnamese forces southwest of Hue came under fresh shelling and troop assaults at two points early today, but spokesmen said the attacks were repulsed.

IRA provisions stage show of strength

Cease-fire start uneasy

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — A cease-fire in Northern Ireland's guerrilla war got off to an uneasy start today after the Irish Republican Army's Provisional wing staged a bloody show of strength up to the hour of truce and some diehards sniped at British troops more than an hour after the deadline.

But the British Army believed that IRA "peace squads" were cracking down on their renegades to enforce the cease-fire. In some areas, the IRA may have even shot it out with the diehards, the British Army said.

The Army reported several attacks on troops after the start of the cease-fire at midnight Monday and said soldiers in Belfast hit a gunman in an exchange about 1 a.m. But no troops were involved in other post-midnight shooting around the capital, causing authorities to suspect that IRA squads were disciplining their own.

A cautious but unmistakable change in mood was evident as the truce began.

Catholics handed out beer and cigarettes to British troops in one Belfast street, the first such friendliness the soldiers had experienced in many months.

British military police found a new submachine gun discarded in a garbage bin near a known guerrilla hideout.

In Londonderry, where terrorists and the army had been exchanging fire almost daily, IRA men were assigned to guard soldiers from renegade gunmen.

Leaders of the IRA Provisionals said Monday night the last-minute rampage of shooting, bombing and bank robbery was staged to emphasize to the British that they called the cease-fire from a position of strength.

At least nine persons were killed during the four-day offensive. They included a British sergeant shot two minutes before midnight in an ambush in East Belfast, another soldier cut down by submachine-gun fire in Londonderry and a policeman killed in Newry.

A man wounded earlier died during the night, bringing to 387 the number killed in Northern Ireland's three years of civil strife.

There were bomb blasts at hotels, customs posts, bars and stores in all six counties of Northern Ireland. In Belfast, 10 bombs exploded in the last hour before the cease-fire. One 200-pounder planted in a stolen car damaged 50 downtown houses.

Shortly after the truce went into effect, British troops pulled back from the street battlegrounds to take up a low profile so the guerrillas could not claim they were provoked into shooting.

Devaluation of pound exceeds four percent

LONDON (AP)—The British pound dropped to $2.48 today, a devaluation of 4.6 percent, after the London foreign exchange market opened for the first time since the government's decision last Friday to let the pound float.

The dollar strengthened elsewhere in Europe.

The pound opened at $2.51 and later eased back to $2.48. Dealers said the market was busy, but more with inquiries than with trade. They reported relatively small amounts were changing hands.

The dealers said the picture would probably be clearer Wednesday, when most exchanges on the Continent reopen.

London bullion dealers set their morning price for gold at $62.30 an ounce, down $1.10 from the previous close. Dealers took this as an indication that the pound might settle for the time being around the $2.50 level. In Switzerland, the dollar jumped to 3.75-3.77 Swiss francs, from 3.75-3.72 at Monday night's close. The dollar opened at 3.16 marks on Frankfurt's open market, up from 3.15 Monday. The pound dropped to 7.90 marks, down from 8.21 when it was last traded on Thursday. It was about the same rate of devaluation as in London.

The opening of the London exchange market for the first time since the government freed the pound last Friday was watched for some indication of the future course of the British currency.

The last official rate on the pound was $2.60, and there have been predictions it would settle at $2.40, the rate before the devaluation of the dollar last year.

All other European exchanges except Zurich remain closed until Wednesday. The Zurich market has not closed during the crisis. Japanese Foreign Minister Takeo Mizuta said the Tokyo foreign exchange market probably would reopen Thursday.

The Swiss government ordered sweeping restrictions on foreign investments today to close the door to speculative money seeking a haven in Switzerland during the crisis.

The measures went into force immediately. Banks, brokers and other institutions were barred from investing foreign capital in Swiss securities, foreign Swiss franc issues and mortgages on Swiss real estate. And persons or corporations domiciled outside Switzerland were barred from buying Swiss real estate.

President Nello Celio, who is also Switzerland's finance minister, also announced that Switzerland would not join in the plans made by the Common Market nations to prevent devaluation of the Italian lira.

Israel rejects U.N. council condemnation

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Israel rejected a U.N. Security Council resolution Monday night condemning it for raids last week into Lebanon, calling the censure "an affront to the victims of Arab terror atrocities and a travesty of justice."

Israeli Ambassador Yosef Teikoah said the resolution "belongs in the morgue of history" and "might have grave repercussions on the Middle East situation" if it encourages terrorists to continue their attacks.

Submitted by Belgium, Britain and France, the compromise resolution was worked out in conjunction with three meetings of debate that began last Friday at the request of both Lebanon and Israel. The council adopted it 13-0, with the United States and Panama abstaining.

It was the sixth time in 3½ years that the council has formally condemned Israel for strikes into Lebanon in retaliation for attacks from Palestinian guerrillas based there.

The resolution made an oblique reference to the guerrilla attacks, saying the council "profoundly deplored all acts of violence in the area." But U.S. Ambassador George Bush said this was not enough for a balanced and fair resolution, and the United States therefore abstained in the vote. Adoption of the resolution scuttled an American proposal for a general condemnation of "acts of violence in the area" and a call for their immediate cessation.

The resolution adopted called on Israel "to refrain from all military acts against Lebanon" and to return "at the earliest possible time" six Syrian and Lebanese officers captured in Lebanon last Wednesday by the Israeli raiders.

Indicating no end to the reprisal policy, Teikoah said Israel would hold Lebanon to its "duty... to prevent the use of its territory as a base for acts of murder."

Teikoah also told the council that his government desires the speedy repatriation of all prisoners, and that negotiations to accomplish this are under way.

Floods deal final blow to railroad

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Recent floods in New York State were the final blow that forced the Erie Lackawanna Railway Co. to file for reorganization under bankruptcy laws, says John Fishwick.

Fishwick, president of the Norfolk & Western Railway and a director of the Erie Lackawanna, said after the U. S. District Court filing Monday that Erie managers have "done a great job against almost insurmountable odds."

"They just ran out of cash," he added. "The coup de grace was the flood. It stopped the revenues, and with the amount of money needed for the clean-up, it was the end."

The action came two years after the Penn Central Railroad, the nation's largest, sought reorganization under the bankruptcy law.

The Erie Lackawanna, with an income of $270 million a year and assets of more than $719 million, is the 12th largest railroad in the nation. It primarily carries freight, but about 70,000 commuters use it daily in New Jersey.

The railroad has been in and out of financial trouble since it was formed 12 years ago by the merger of the Erie Railroad and the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, both about 110 years old.

Erie Lackawanna reported losses of $1.4 million last year, and rumors circulated a few months ago that the railroad would file bankruptcy proceedings.

President Gregory Maxwell said then that cost-cutting measures had been introduced and that the company would not file for bankruptcy.

Federal Judge Robert Krupansky ordered the railroad to remain in operation pending a court hearing July 10 when the task of appointing trustees to reorganize the railroad is expected to begin.

80 percent would get break

McGovern revising welfare reform

By GREGG HERRINGTON
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Sen. George McGovern, who is within shouting distance of winning the Democratic presidential nomination, has leaked word he is revising the welfare-reform plan that has become a major issue in his campaign.

Eighty percent of American taxpayers would get a financial break under the new plan, McGovern told labor leaders and Democratic officeholders in Oklahoma City Monday.

The remaining 20 percent, he said, would pay more, especially those making at least $30,000 a year.

The senator, who is on a six-city tour of the South, gave no details of the revision. An aide said mention of the plan at the meeting was inadvertent and that McGovern had not intended to discuss it until all wrinkles are worked out.

McGovern originally had proposed a guaranteed annual allowance of $1,000 per person. He said this generally would have meant a tax break for a family of four making $12,000 a year or less and a higher tax bite for others.

That plan has come under considerable fire, mainly because of its effect on families of moderate income.

The Democratic Platform Committee, meeting in Washington, has gone on record against pending welfare-reform legislation but has refused to endorse a proposal, advanced by the National Welfare Rights Organization, for a $6,500 guaranteed income for a family of four.

McGovern, who addressed a rally in San Antonio Monday night, planned to go to Arkansas and Georgia today in search of enough delegates to nail down the nomination.

On Monday, McGovern lashed out at the Nixon administration's so-called Southern strategy.

"The words are modern but the strategy is not," he told a rally in San Antonio. "That strategy stretches back to the dark days of the Civil War and since then has scarred an entire century of American life."

McGovern said the strategy "overlooks the rights of Mexican-Americans, blacks and other minorities in this country... It stily hints that what's important is not peace but the preservation of racial division in our own neighborhoods."

McGovern's appearance in San Antonio capped a day that included a stop in Oklahoma City but began in Washington where he told a news conference that blacks had provided enough new delegate support to give him 1,510-75 convention delegates — enough to ensure his first-ballot nomination.

But later, in Oklahoma City, his aides announced there had been some errors in earlier calculations and McGovern was short of the nomination, having 1,492.75 delegates committed to him on the first ballot—short of the 1,509 needed for nomination.

Thousands more return to homes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Receding waters from the Eastern Seaboard's worst flooding disaster enabled thousands more to return to their homes today but crisis points remained at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and Big Flats, N.Y.

The death toll from the week-long rampage by Tropical Storm Agnes climbed to 123 Monday. Among the latest victims were three newsmen killed in a helicopter crash as they returned from surveying the devastation.

Drinking water remained a major problem in dozens of the hardest-hit communities, but the arrival of water purification units in some areas helped ease the need for trucking in supplies.

New appropriations of federal rebuilding aid were promised by President Nixon after complaints that the initial allocations were far too small. Estimates of damage run over $1 billion in Pennsylvania alone.

For the present, much of the relief came from people helping people. Mayor Eugene Peters of Scranton, Pa., brought hundreds of his city's workers to help man the food and medicine distribution center in Wilkes-Barre.

Says she was 'political prisoner'

Martha quits campaign, John

By FRANCES LEWINE
WASHINGTON (AP) — Until last weekend Martha Mitchell had been expected to be a star of the campaign to re-elect President Nixon.

But now there's not a single public appearance on her schedule.

The wife of former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell was quoted Monday as saying she has left her husband until he decides to quit as head of the Nixon re-election campaign.

She told reporters she was a political prisoner and "they don't want me to talk."

Mitchell and the White House have declined comment.

At Mrs. Mitchell's office in the campaign headquarters near the White House, her press secretary was not available.

But a spokesman for the re-election committee said Mrs. Mitchell has no appearances scheduled for the remainder of June. "She intended to use it for free time," the aide said.

Earlier in this election year, Mrs. Mitchell was depicted by staff members as having more demands for appearances around the country than any other woman in the Nixon administration. She was expected to make numerous campaign appearances.

Mrs. Mitchell's popularity stemmed from a series of pungent comments she made while her husband was attorney general.

They ranged from an attack on Sen. J.W. Fulbright, for his vote against Nixon's Supreme Court nominee G. Harrold

Carswell, to complaints about women being third-class citizens. "We've never been liberated as far as our viewpoint is concerned."

Her comments usually were offered in telephone calls to reporters, and usually late at night.

Last spring she was one of the main attractions GOP women invited to appear at four Republican regional women's conferences. She showed up at two.

"We originally thought she would go to all four," said a spokesman in the office of GOP Vice Chairman Anne Armstrong, who arranged the meetings. "But she had problems and was sick."

At about that time Mrs. Mitchell was reported ailing with a virus. She failed to show up for a big luncheon.

At the height of her popularity some reporters trying to interview Mrs. Mitchell were told by her office that she was so busy she couldn't take them on.

Now Mrs. Mitchell reports she is being kept out of the spotlight. It is her "honesty" they're worrying about, she says.

Mrs. Mitchell told the New York Daily News that while she was in California last week, a security guard took away her telephone and several guards threw her onto a bed and "stuck a needle in my behind."

Mitchell remains incommunicado. The campaign committee says there will be no comment because Mitchell "considers this to be a personal matter."

No comment from negotiators in Northwest dispute

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — There was no comment from both sides after negotiators for Northwest Airlines and a union representing nearly 2,000 Northwest pilots met again Monday, in an effort to settle a contract dispute.

The latest round of negotiations began last Wednesday between the airline and the Air Line Pilots Association. A 30-day cooling off period expires Friday and pilots could strike after that.

The current contract has been amendable since last June, and negotiations have been held intermittently the past 16 months.

Federal mediator Harry Bickford conducted Monday's meeting.

Find Waukesha man guilty of murder

WAUKESHA, Wis. (AP) — Donald G. Kemp, 25, Waukesha, who had pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity in the fatal shooting of his wife, Monday was found guilty of first degree murder by Circuit Judge William E. Gramling.

At the defense's request, Gramling then ordered a jury trial to determine Kemp's sanity. Trial tentatively was set for July 5.

The decomposing body of Kemp's wife, Diane, was found in their apartment June 15.

Surveillance ruling

ACLU plans to ask court to reconsider

By BARRY SCHWEID
WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Civil Liberties Union plans to ask the Supreme Court to reconsider its 5-4 decision barring a suit against Army surveillance of civilians.

Aryeh Neier, ACLU executive director, said in New York he will base his motion on the fact Justice William H. Rehnquist participated in the decision.

Neier said Rehnquist, a former Justice Department official, should have stepped out of the case because he testified in March 1971 about the suit before a Senate subcommittee.

The ACLU official said Rehnquist told the subcommittee that the suit was not properly before the courts.

Rehnquist was nominated to the Supreme Court by President Nixon last October. He was confirmed and took his seat in January. The freshman justice voted with the majority Monday to cancel out the suit as well as a full-dress Army-surveillance inquiry that had been ordered by the U.S. Circuit Court for the District of Columbia.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger said in the majority opinion that the four individuals and nine groups who filed the free-speech case failed to show they suffered injury. Burger said courts should not sit "as virtually continuing monitors of the wisdom and soundness of executive actions."

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., who helped argue the case in the court, described the decision as "unwise and wrong." He said he would introduce a bill today to hold military surveillance to strict limits.

That is, civilians could be shadowed by the military only on direct orders from the president and when necessary to guard against invasion and domestic violence. Another exception would permit surveillance of civilians who applied for jobs with the military.

Burger's majority opinion said the suit was really an attempt to use the courts to probe the Army's intelligence-gathering activities. He said it is the job of Congress, not the courts, to pass judgment on the soundness of executive actions.

Last March, U.S. Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold told the justices the surveillance had been stopped. He called it an inappropriate use of military resources, but said it did not violate any law or the Constitution.

Justice William O. Douglas said in dissent that Congress has never authorized Pentagon surveillance over civilians. And, he said, "one can search the Constitution in vain for any such authority."

S.D. Republicans pick Yankton man to head ticket

PIERRE, S.D. (AP) — South Dakota Republicans have chosen Robert Hirsch of Yankton to head the party's ticket in GOP efforts to reverse dramatic victories by state Democrats two years ago.

Hirsch, 46, won the nomination Monday for U.S. Senate over Atty. Gen. Gordon Myrdland, who finished second to the Yankton attorney in a five-man June 6 primary.

Democrats swept both House seats and the governor's office in the 1970 election.

"This convention provides the viability of the Republican Party," Hirsch said, "and I pledge to run an issue-oriented campaign."

Hirsch will face Rep. James Abourezk, D-S.D., in the general election.

Hirsch told the delegates he welcomed the chance to debate Abourezk.

"I will go anywhere, anytime for the debates," he said.

The candidates are seeking the Senate spot held in Republican ranks for the past 24 years by Sen. Karl Mundt, who did not file for reelection. Mundt was victim of a crippling stroke in 1969 and has been unable to resume his Senate duties since.

Anderson asks meeting to adopt new platform

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Gov. Wendell Anderson has issued a call for DFL legislative candidates to meet and adopt a platform which would supersede controversial planks adopted at the DFL State Convention two weeks ago.

An aide to Anderson said the governor plans to call the meeting of candidates, along with labor and farm representatives in late July or early August.

Administrative Assistant James Pederson said the meeting will adopt a substitute platform for DFL candidates "unless and until planks are adopted (by the DFL Central Committee) that deal with the issues of concern to the Anderson administration, our legislative candidates and the vast majority of DFLers."

Three of the six planks adopted at the state convention have drawn considerable controversy. They included the legalization of marijuana, unconditional amnesty for draft evaders and full civil rights for homosexuals.

The remaining 70 planks will be considered by the Central Committee in August.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, who did not attend the state convention, was among the first to denounce those planks, and suggested that DFLers interested in electing candidates "ought to have a little meeting."

Added the Democratic presidential hopeful: "It'll be hard to sell some of those planks in Minnesota."

The governor's July newsletter, released Monday, said he wants legislative candidates, along with other members of the party to help draft a "legislative program which a majority of the people of Minnesota can wholeheartedly support."

Anderson repeated earlier criticisms of the Rochester convention, which he said ignored the issues "of grave concern to the people of this state."

The governor said he does not feel that any DFL legislative candidates can be elected on the platform plans adopted at the convention.

Meanwhile, DFL State Chairman Richard Moe said that the "legislative program" to be adopted at the meeting called by the governor will not be a substitute for the party platform.

"When the platform is completed by the Central Committee, I expect that our legislative candidates will be able to support the vast majority of it," Moe added.

New juniper is released to experiment areas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says that Emerald Sea chore juniper, a new prostrate, coniferous evergreen suitable for landscape and shore plantings, has been released to experiment stations, aboretums and qualified nurserymen.

Because of its mat forming habit and salt spray tolerance, the department says Emerald Sea shore juniper should stabilize coastal and inland dunes here as it has done in Japan.

Emerald Sea came to this country as cuttings taken in 1967 from Japanese shore areas.

HRA review of downtown project Friday

Consideration of whether to cancel a contract for downtown urban renewal reconstruction will be the major agenda item for a special meeting Friday of the Housing and Redevelopment Authority (HRA).

HRA members are scheduled to decide at the 7:30 p.m. meeting on whether to void the contract with Plaza Development Corp., Minneapolis-based concern. Their action will depend largely on whether the redeveloper is able to show financial capability to carry out the $4.5 million plan outlined last year.

Friday is the final day of a one-month period in which Plaza Development was to present evidence that it had sufficient mortgage money available to proceed with the project.

Included in the plan outlined by Plaza Development officials was a 16-story apartment building and a three-sided complex of retail and service businesses. The project was designed to cover the block bounded by 2nd, 3rd, Main and Center streets and which was cleared of buildings and structures a year ago.

A contract for reconstruction of the block was signed last year by HRA and Plaza Development. But terms specified that title to the site would not pass to Plaza Development unless the latter was able to prove itself financially responsible.

Plaza Development will have no comment to make on the matter until the meeting, according to John Briscoe, Winona, president of the firm.

Indians seeking faster action on funding program

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Representatives of Indian groups in Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri met here Monday to seek faster action on funding programs for the estimated 56,000 Indians living in the four states.

Members of the group said they had formed a Region 7 American Indian Council Saturday as an Indian counterpart to federal agencies responsible for programs in the four states.

The Indians said they have asked federal officials to recognize their regional council as a reviewing board. The council would take proposals from local Indian organizations and funnel those proposals to the appropriate federal agencies.

Douglas Gradipe, treasurer of the National American Indian Council, said distribution of federal funds has been too slow, despite President Nixon's call in 1970 for greater attention to Indian problems.

State agencies dragging feet on city truck bypass

By FRANK R. UHLIG
Daily News Staff Writer

Bureaucratic delays by state agencies are being blamed by Winona city officials for holding up progress on a new northwesterly truck bypass route.

Lack of action on key permits requested by the city has slowed preparations for contract-letting on the Pelzer Street extension, a loop that will connect Highway 61 and 14 with the city's commercial harbor area. Heavy truck traffic that now winds through west-side residential districts will be diverted to the new thoroughfare when completed.

The city's frustrations were aired this week in a status report issued by the city engineer's office. Implicated chiefly by the report were the state Department of Natural Resources (DNR) and the Pollution Control Agency (PCA).

Both DNR and PCA are involved in the city's attempt to secure a permit from the Army Corps of Engineers to dredge sand fill from the Mississippi River and use it for the new street grade. Corps policy requires that it touch bases with the DNR and PCA in such cases.

The corps 30-day period for receiving objections ended April 27, according to City Engineer Robert J. Bollant. Corps officials reported no negative response to the proposed dredging and indicated their willingness to give the go-ahead to the project.

DNR and PCA, however, haven't filed any recommendations with the corps, an omission that effectively stalls further movement until they get around to acting. City officials don't know whether the failure to act is deliberate or simply a case of excess red tape.

A fact-finding meeting was conducted here April 26 by DNR. The agency later indicated unofficially that, despite protests by several conservation groups, it would recommend corps issuance of the dredge permit.

DNR and PCA interest centered not so much on the dredging as on the city's intent to deposit fill in marshy areas west of Prairie Island Road. This would, according to protesters, destroy the wild character of the marsh and pollute nearby lakes. City officials replied that strong anti-pollution rules would be written into contracts it might let.

Although plans were submitted to PCA Feb. 7, Bollant reported, no response was forthcoming despite his repeated written and telephoned inquiries. Moreover, the agency changed its rules in May — three months after the Winona plans were submitted for review — and established a 30-day notice period.

Reluctantly, and after another barrage of phone calls, PCA established June 19 as the first day of the notice period, Bollant continued.

Despite twice-weekly requests from the city engineer, DNR still hasn't written a report to the corps of engineers, Bollant reported. No one seems to know when PCA will get around to filing its recommendations.

Meanwhile the city hopes to let contracts for the project and provide a usable truck route — which officials say is urgently needed — by this fall.

Also lost in the bureaucratic mazes until recently was the city's petition to the Public Service Commission (PSC) for authority to cross tracks and right of way of the Milwaukee and the Chicago and North Western railroads.

A PSC hearing was conducted here April 5 at City Hall. Railroads objected to the city's request on grounds that they would be unfairly penalized.

Formal approval of the city's request was voted last week by the PSC, Bollant added, and official notice will be forthcoming in a few days.

Almost all other right of way has been acquired and the requisite approval of plans by the state highway department has been obtained, Bollant said.

According to present plans the council will let contracts for dredging, grading and storm sewers July 17. This work is to be finished by Nov. 30. A heavy-duty paved surface will be applied next year to the connector route.

Fisherman gets needed equipment

Some individual is all set to go fishing — at the expense of Stanley Sorem, 1715 W. Broadway.

According to Acting Chief of Police John Scherer, Sorem reported Monday evening his rod and reel, tackle box with fishing equipment and his fishing license were taken from his boat which was moored at the Municipal Boat Harbor.

Value of the missing items is estimated at $75.

BERRY Williams, 112 E. King St., also reported a $75 loss on Monday. Williams told police that three rods and reels were taken from his garage and his wife's car, which was parked in the garage, was ransacked but so far nothing has been reported missing from it.

Scherer indicated there was no sign of a forced entry.

In other action, police are looking for a 15-year-old run away Winona girl. Scherer said the girl has been missing since Saturday but her parents did not inform police until Monday night.

The slim built girl, has long blonde hair and was last seen in the company of two juvenile boys from Winona.

Scherer said at this time police would not release the girl's name until they had checked in to the situation.

A 17-YEAR-OLD Winona boy was arrested for speeding 40 in a 30-mile zone at 12:18 a.m. today on Gilmore Avenue.

He will be referred to juvenile authorities.

House breakins being probed by sheriff's office

Two house breakins are presently under investigation by the Winona County sheriff's office.

According to Sheriff Helmer Weinmann, Gene Ihrke, Altura, Minn., reported at 6:05 p.m. Monday that someone entered his home and removed an old bed, a grinder and balls off the lightning rods.

At 12:35 a.m. today Lawrence Overing, Stockton, called the sheriff's office to report his house had been entered.

Concerning both incidents, Weinmann said the exact means of entry or what items are missing have not been determined.

Also lost in the bureaucratic mazes until recently was the city's petition to the Public Service Commission (PSC) for authority to cross tracks and right of way of the Milwaukee and the Chicago and North Western railroads.

A PSC hearing was conducted here April 5 at City Hall. Railroads objected to the city's request on grounds that they would be unfairly penalized.

According to present plans the council will let contracts for dredging, grading and storm sewers July 17. This work is to be finished by Nov. 30. A heavy-duty paved surface will be applied next year to the connector route.

Fisherman gets needed equipment

Some individual is all set to go fishing — at the expense of Stanley Sorem, 1715 W. Broadway.

According to Acting Chief of Police John Scherer, Sorem reported Monday evening his rod and reel, tackle box with fishing equipment and his fishing license were taken from his boat which was moored at the Municipal Boat Harbor.

Value of the missing items is estimated at $75.

BERRY Williams, 112 E. King St., also reported a $75 loss on Monday. Williams told police that three rods and reels were taken from his garage and his wife's car, which was parked in the garage, was ransacked but so far nothing has been reported missing from it.

Scherer indicated there was no sign of a forced entry.

In other action, police are looking for a 15-year-old run away Winona girl. Scherer said the girl has been missing since Saturday but her parents did not inform police until Monday night.

The slim built girl, has long blonde hair and was last seen in the company of two juvenile boys from Winona.

Scherer said at this time police would not release the girl's name until they had checked in to the situation.

A 17-YEAR-OLD Winona boy was arrested for speeding 40 in a 30-mile zone at 12:18 a.m. today on Gilmore Avenue.

He will be referred to juvenile authorities.

House breakins being probed by sheriff's office

Two house breakins are presently under investigation by the Winona County sheriff's office.

According to Sheriff Helmer Weinmann, Gene Ihrke, Altura, Minn., reported at 6:05 p.m. Monday that someone entered his home and removed an old bed, a grinder and balls off the lightning rods.

At 12:35 a.m. today Lawrence Overing, Stockton, called the sheriff's office to report his house had been entered.

Concerning both incidents, Weinmann said the exact means of entry or what items are missing have not been determined.

RIDING HIGH... Cape Kennedy may be famous for its moon flights but Winona has its own crew of "astronauts" who are launched daily in their "moonbuggy" from various locations along city streets. This 50-foot High Ranger owned by Blong's Tree Service, 5000 Industrial Park Rd., lifts tree trimmers to the heights of trees for shaping and removal of dead limbs. Caledonian named Region 10 princess CALEDONIA, Minn.—A Houston County girl will represent Region 10 in the 1972 competition for Princess Kay of the Milky Way.

Madge Stapleton, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sean Stapleton, Caledonia, was crowned Region 10 Dairy Princess at the contest held at Dodge Center, Minn., Saturday. She was selected from the 21 girls in the competition representing Dodge, Fillmore, Goodhue, Houston, Mower, Wabasha and Winona counties.

Helen Rowekamp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Rowekamp, Lewiston, one of the three girls competing from Winona County was named Miss Congeniality by the 20 other girls.

The Stapleton family moved here from Vancouver, British Columbia, four years ago. Madge's father and an uncle, Mat Schiltz, operate a 2,000-acre dairy farm in Houston County. Started by her grandfather, the late Peter Schiltz, the farm is a dairy processing corporation.

There are 700 head of cows with 400 milking, and dairy products, including cheese, are manufactured, processed and marketed.

Madge says she would love to be Princess Kay because she would like to represent the dairy industry. "Promoting dairy products is easy because everybody needs them," she says.

She has been manager of the farm's three dairy stores located at La Crosse, Wis., and La Crescent and Caledonia since December.

The Princess Kay coronation will be held Aug. 24, the day before the opening of the Minnesota State Fair.

Charge against railroad conductor dismissed by judge

A charge of blocking a railroad crossing for more than 10 minutes against a Milwaukee Railroad conductor was dismissed by Winona Municipal Court Judge Dennis A. Challen this morning. Francis G. Schiffer, La Crosse, Wis., was arrested at 11:48 p.m. May 4, after allegedly allowing the train to block the Mankato Avenue crossing for more than 10 minutes.

Prosecuting attorney Frank Wohletz indicated the court had "delayed itself into a dilemma." According to Wohletz, he was called on May 22 by de-

Minneapolis, and agreed to a continuance for one week. Wohletz said he did not learn until June 7 that a not guilty plea had been entered over the telephone and trial was set for today.

Wohletz said the state's chief witness, John Kiebusch, a former patrolman with the Winona police department and arresting officer, is presently employed in Lakewood, Colorado.

WOHLETZ added the court has two choices, either to authorize expenses for the officer to return or dismiss the case.

Challen indicated he did not have the power to authorize the witness to return or to pay for expenses to return here so the case was dismissed.

In other action, Heber McNish, 45, formerly of 967 E. King St., appeared with his court appointed attorney, James Soderberg and waived his right to a preliminary hearing which was scheduled for today.

HE WAS bound over to district court and is presently being held in the Winona County jail in lieu of posting $20,000 bond.

McNish is charged with two separate counts of a morals charge which allegedly occurred with a girl under the age of 16 on Sept. 22, 1971, at McNish's home.

J. K. Hoyer, superintendent, told board members Mrs. John (Linda) Windjue, Strum, Wis., has been contracted for one year as first grade teacher at Sunset Elementary School. Applicant interviews are being conducted for a high school English teacher to replace Mrs. Mary Ellen Fisher, a part time home economics instructor to replace Mrs. Rosemary Twesme, and a sixth grade teacher to replace Ted Hanson. A replacement will also be needed for Mrs. Larry Helgeson, in charge of attendance.

The resignation of Duane Kaas, vocational agriculture instructor was accepted.

Seal coating was recommended to halt deterioration of the blacktop at Pigeon, Sunset Elementary and Memorial schools. Board members approved that a trial area be sealed at a cost of three cents per square foot before the sealing is done.

Tabled for further study: completing the blacktopping of the parking area at Sunset Memorial School at an estimated cost of $3,000 to $3,250, and repairing the roof at Sunset Elementary at an estimated cost of $7,000 not including labor.

The board was informed that as of August, 1972, repayment of school district state trust fund loans will be made by school district levy rather than by the municipality.

The annual meeting of the school district will be held at 8 p.m. July 24 in the Sunset Memorial Auditorium. Board members whose terms expire are Arthur Gunderson, Rayder Amundson and Roger Guse.

Family loses house in Elmira, N.Y.

Winonan's father missing in flood

By ROSE KODET
Daily News Staff Writer

"It's like a very, very bad nightmare and it's not getting much better."

That is how Mrs. Marvin Rouse described one of the most destructive storms in the history of the east coast which has left her father missing in Elmira, N.Y.

The flooding resulted in more than 120,000 persons being driven from their homes along the Eastern seaboard Friday morning and the death toll reached 80.

Rouse, track coach at Cotter High School and assistant director of financial aids at WSC, heard about the flood Friday morning when he went to work at Peerless Chain Co., his summer job. He immediately called his wife and told her to watch the news but Mrs. Rouse indicated there was very little information given about Elmira, where she and her husband lived. She called the Winona County sheriff's office and the Red Cross for assistance in obtaining information about their families.

THE ROUSES were not able to obtain any information about either of their families until Saturday, Mrs. Rouse said. Her mother, Mrs. Fred Jones, is staying with them, but no word had been received about the safety of Rouse's parents or Mrs. Rouse's father.

On Saturday, Rouse's sister from Silver Springs, Md., called to let the family know Rouse's parents, sister and brother were safe. She said his parents had been taken out through the roof of their home by helicopter. At that time she had no word on the whereabouts of Mrs. Rouse's father and sister.

At 4 a.m. Sunday Mrs. Rouse's sister called to let her mother and sister know she and her family were safe but at that time she did not know where their father was.

Their father was home alone and Mrs. Rouse indicated he had a hearing loss and was a sound sleeper so possibly he could not be aroused when the evacuation began. Mrs. Rouse said persons were evacuated from their homes about 5 a.m. Friday.

MRS. ROUSE began checking with the flood evacuation center which had been set up for the flood victims to see if her father had been rescued. But since there is only one emergency line open for the entire city of Elmira, which has a population of 40,000, it was very difficult. She was informed by one operator, in an attempt to get through to the center, that the evacuation center was under chaos. Another relative who called the Rouses said one of the centers set up had more than 1,000 persons "packed in like sardines."

Mrs. Rouse said most of the information they have received has been hearsay and they do not even know the condition of their home.

"You hate to think the worst but..." she added.

Mrs. Jones said she and her husband had lived in the house in Elmira since 1949. She indicated a desire to go back to New York on Thursday to look for her husband and to decide what to do about their property. If there is anything left she indicated a desire to start cleaning up and if there was nothing left to make some decision, with her husband, if he were found, about rebuilding either in Elmira or relocating.

MRS. ROUSE said her sister had told her not to let her mother come back because there was nothing to come back to. Her sister is staying in Rochester, N.Y., and has not returned to Elmira since they were evacuated early Friday morning.

The persons Mrs. Rouse has talked to have told her there are no words to describe the condition of Elmira.

"I've always told myself things could get worse," said Mrs. Rouse, "but I feel like I've hit rock bottom now. But I guess you can't give up."

Esther: American husbands are slaves

NEW YORK — We American husbands are enslaved. We're heroes and martyrs and we're not appreciated.

Singer Esther Tobi told me so in a commanding voice. Having just obtained her citizenship and become an "American woman," Esther from Jerusalem now feels free to declare "American women are the most spoiled in the world."

"It's American men who are slaves! Not the American women as the Women's Lib says. DO YOU AGREE?" she demanded sharply across a table at Joe's Pier 52.

Earl Wilson

"I'm affraid to," I quaked, thinking of the B.W.'s reaction to me claiming I was a slave and she a slave driver.

"A man struggles to work, battles all day, pushes home, is handed a TV dinner he's supposed to be grateful for. A European husband would hit his wife in the face with a TV dinner. The American husband gives his wife diamonds, minks, laundromat, dishwashing machines. And she's like a cow."

"How's that?" As a farm boy, I knew several very nice cows personally.

"A cow gives a bucket of milk and then kicks over the bucket!" Esther said.

"Women are lazy, I know, being one. They don't want to work hard. They manpulate men into seducing them and marrying them and then emasculate them. And now," she added angrily, "some women aren't even going to use men for making children but will go to sperm banks."

"I think," she declared with great heat, "American men should be given credit for how great they really are."

"Amen," I replied. (In a very, very low whisper.)

Johnny Carson was very, very generous in his divorce settlement with his wife Joanne — he went for much, much more than the reported $2,000-a-week ($100,000 a year) support. That sum is much less than what Joanne actually gets for support — and in addition, Johnny gave her a large cash settlement.

And Joanne isn't out of his life. Her TV show, "Joanne Carson's V.I.P.s," will be heavily publicized. She'll interview celebrities same as Johnny. As West Coast editor of Coronet, she's been given a press card and will also write a column. Everywhere Johnny and girl friend Joanna Holland look, they're going to see the name of "the former Mrs. Johnny Carson." Joanne says, "Of course I'm still going to call myself Carson! I love the name and I love the man who gave it to me."

The Friars Club guys wish Billy Eckstine hadn't said Al Johnson was a corny no-voice singer. "Compared to Al, Billy Eckstine is a page boy," declared Composer Irving Caesar. "Frederic Chaplin of the Met was mesmerized by Al's voice. Al communicated. His voice was a violin. And Billy Eckstine shouldn't forget, Al did it without a microphone."

Danny Kaye's daughter Dena is a staff writer on Norman Cousins' new magazine World. At a party on the liner France, Danny sought out the chef. "Other people go on ships to eat; my father goes to cook," said Dena. Horace Sutton said, "After preparing a 10-course Chinese dinner for guests, Danny will eat a pastrami sandwich."

Sheeky Green mentioned his big new Las Vegas contract: "At the end of a few years I'll have several million dollars — in bar bills." That's earl, brother.

Youth who shot deputy sheriff takes own life

MORGAN, Minn. (AP) — A teen-ager who fatally wounded a deputy sheriff was found shot to death in a nearby cornfield, authorities said.

Redwood County Sheriff Vince Bestick said Scott Kirkhoff, 17, of Morgan, turned the 16-gauge shotgun on himself, after the youth had fled on foot into the field.

The youth's body was found Monday, about 12 hours after the slaying Sunday night of deputy Lawrence Felcyn, 32, Redwood Falls.

The sheriff said Felcyn, a deputy for only seven months, and Morgan Police Chief Herman Tonak Jr., were summoned by telephone to a Morgan home. He said the officers drove up in a car at the curb and Kirkhoff, brandishing the shotgun, shouted at them to leave or he would shoot.

As they were pulling away, the deputy was hit by several shotgun blasts. Chief Tonak, who'd stopped Kirkhoff recently on an alleged traffic infraction, was not injured.

The youth fled into the dusk at 9:45 p.m. and Redwood County authorities launched a search. Sheriff Bestick was in a helicopter that sighted the youth's body in a cornfield about one-half mile from town.

The sheriff said the youth had been shot in the head, and a shotgun lay nearby.

Authorities said the tragedy unfolded when Kirkhoff went to the home of a friend, Ken Kopschke, with a shotgun. The youth allegedly voiced threats at several persons, and said he'd been at the homes of the police chief and Rod Harmon, a teacher at Morgan High School, but had not seen the two men.

Kopschke said his mother was attracted by the commotion and came to the door. He said Kirkhoff threatened to shoot her and anyone else in the family who tried to interfere with his plans.

The youth said that Kirkhoff also threatened to shoot himself.

Chief Tonak was then called by telephone and he asked for help from the Redwood County sheriff's office, which dispatched deputy Felcyn to the scene.

Zablocki wins support from party unit

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Rep. Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis., whose general support of President Nixon's Vietnam policies has alienated some Democrats, was commended Monday night in a resolution adopted by the executive board of the 4th Congressional District party unit.

The resolution, backing the 23-year House veteran for "doing a good job" for constituents, was an apparent response to a measure passed at the party's state convention earlier this month which expressed "keen disappointment" in Zablocki's Vietnam views.

Monday night's action came at a special meeting of the board called by District Chairman Norman N. Schomisch. "There's no question that there is a lot of dissatisfaction with the war, but there is good satisfaction with the day to day job the Congressman is doing," Schomisch said.

Opposing the measure was Kenneth Kaye, chairman of a suburban party organization, who said Zablocki "needs to know that the majority of voters in the 4th District favor getting out (of Vietnam) lock, stock and barrel."

Zablocki, for years one of the most prolific vote getters among Wisconsin Congressmen, is expected to seek another term. The only announced Democratic candidate for the post is Grant Waldo, an attorney.

Archie speaks out—thoughts are many

By JERRY BUCK

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What do Chairman Mao and Archie Bunker have in common? Each has his own little book of sayings.

Mao's book is Red red. Archie's is a patriotic red, white and blue.

Mao's thoughts are revolutionary. Archie's are no less inflammatory but much funnier.

"The Wit and Wisdom of Archie Bunker," newly published in a paperback by Popular Library, is a compilation of Archie's outrageous remarks from CBS' "All in the Family."

The man who gave currency to "stiffle," "dingbat" and "meathead" speaks out on sex, race, politics, Women's Lib and many other subjects.

Much of the book records exchanges between Archie and other members of the cast, but here are a few short examples:

• "Wages and prices. It's what you call your spiral staircase."

• "If you're gonna have your change of life, have it right now! You got exactly 30 seconds . . . change!"

• "Well, I'll tell you one thing about Richard Nixon. He keeps Pat home. Which was where Roosevelt should have kept Eleanor. Instead he let her run around loose till one day she discovered the colored. We never knew they was there. She told them they was getting' the short end of the stick and we been havin' trouble ever since."

• "When I wanna learn about pollution, it won't be from no millionaire actor who's got nothin' to do but sit on his duff and dream up causes. If he wants to unpollute something, let him unpollute the movies. All them studies."

Wisconsin law prohibits sweeping without sprinkling

MADISON, Wis. (AP) —

There is a law on the books in Wisconsin prohibiting the sweeping of a public place without sprinkling it—and setting a $10 to $50 fine for anyone who does.

Current state statutes also list a $50 fine for taking a homing pigeon. Businesses that do not use Central Standard Time can be penalized with a $25 to $50 fine or 10 to 30 days in jail.

These items are only a partial list of "obsolete" statutes under study by a legislative committee established to examine the consistency and relevance of Wisconsin's criminal penalties.

The group, headed by Sen. Fred Risser, D-Madison, has also asked for drafts of constitutional amendments which would eliminate references in that document to dueling and to a convicted felon's right to hold public office.

EDITOR'S NOTE: On the edge of the impenetrable rain forest of the southern Philippines lives a tiny band of people whose existence became known only last year. Numbering only 25, the Tasadays live much as anthropologists believe the cave-men of prehistoric times lived. A newsman who accompanied the expedition to the Forest of the Tasadays recounts in the following story, the first of a five-part series, the first contact of scientists with the people that time forgot.)

By JOHN NANCE

TASADAY FOREST, Philippines (AP) — The jet helicopter hovered in the cool air of the 4,000-foot-high mountains and four men leaped out, sprawling flat and clinging to a wooden platform tied into a treetop.

Air blasts from the rotor blades rocked their small landing pad like a canoe in choppy water.

Their rescuer came . . . just as promised

Tasaday Tribe—years of isolation broken

The men peered over the edge. Seventy-five feet below was a ridgeline no wider than a car which plunged immediately into thick jungle as it slanted down another 300 feet.

The men were headed for the home of the Tasaday, the tiny band of stone age-style people discovered last year at the edge of this vast and rugged southern Philippines rain forest.

The Tasaday—who live in caves, use stone tools, wear orchid leaves and know no enemies—said no outsider had ever seen their homes in a valley of the undulating forest. They said their ancestors had lived there since their knowledge of time began.

In an early March meeting at the forest's edge, the Tasaday invited visitors to their place, but one young man warned: "You may not be able to make it; the way is very difficult."

The helicopter whirled into forest the misty morning of March 23rd.

As the aircraft emerged between two peaks, a dot of yellow-brown appeared in the dark jungle below. The chopper dipped and the dot grew, revealing the platform made of branches and saplings.

The pilot circled once, nosed his helicopter up to the 12-by-14-foot pad and the doors were opened.

Manuel Elizalde Jr., president of Panamin, a government-supported foundation for assisting Philippine minorities, and leader of the expedition, leaped first, opening the latest and most exciting phase of discovery since he first contacted the band of 25 people last June.

Charles A. Lindbergh, the American pilot and conservationist who is a director of Panamin, joined the expedition two days later.

Minutes after the helicopter delivered the first of its three loads, a young Tasaday man named Balayam arrived, hugged Elizalde and led the expedition down the steep ridge.

Blayam led the party on an hour's hike to a slope where the jungle thinned. Through the leaves the mouth of a cave was dimly visible.

Heads poked from ledges and two higher caves. The Tasadays were shouting greetings and bounding down a dusty path to cluster around the visitors. The Tasaday nuzzled and embraced Elizalde, who they say is the man their ancestors had foretold would one day come to them.

"He would just love us and help us—we were never told how," said Mahayag, a robust Tasaday man.

The handsome men, women and children wore only earrings and leaves and their tan skin was streaked with soot from their fires.

Whether the caves have been the Tasaday's homes for a few generations or thousands of years is not known.

Scientists last year said the Tasaday's language and technology suggested they had been isolated more than 1,000 years.

The Tasaday grew increasingly friendly during the expedition's visit and the shyest women and children eventually smiled and spoke through interpreters.

The people displayed the sparse possessions in their main cave, which has a 10-foot-high mouth. It is roughly 30 feet deep and 25 feet wide.

It contained a few mats of bark, deer horns for digging edible roots, odd bits of food, firewood, two favorite stone tools and collection of items—knives, woven baskets, a tin can that once held crackers and a batteryless flashlight—origin unknown.

No drawings marked the walls.

A surprise was the small area over which the Tasaday range in their food quest, the main activity of the band. The jungle provides abundant food—river life, plants, insects, flowers, roots and the pith of trees—near the caves.

The flavor of a celebration

Winona's Steamboat Days opens a week from tomorrow and who isn't looking forward to the varied entertainment program that it promises again. What makes a celebration "go" from the standpoint of the sponsor are the big name entertainers. The Jaycees have again ventured their capital to sign contracts with a number of them who are expected to draw capacity crowds to the junior high auditorium.

But particularly intriguing in this year's program are the art show and the umbrella race, because it is events such as these that give the celebration an authentic flavor — a character that cannot be obtained from, say, power boat races or a beer garden, as exciting and as profitable as they may be.

Any community sponsoring a celebration might do well to consider the practice of a small northern Iowa community called Thompson.

Its festival this year includes such more-or-less standard events as a free pancake supper, a band concert, an ice cream social, softball games, a barbecue, horse show and street dance.

But the leaders — anxious to have outsiders consider Thompson as a potential "home" — figured that there ought to be more personal contact with the visitors. So Thompson citizens are opening a number of booths — in homes, vacant buildings and donated commercial space — to display various craft items.

The superintendent of schools and his family, for example, are offering earthworms (night crawlers) outdoor plants, pine cones and second-hand comic books. Another is offering an assortment of dolls she has made and a man will sell antiques. Another has a strange combination: pastries for diabetics, and rocks.

They call it the "Thompson Home Industry Project."

This little community of about 700 has another idea that small communities might consider. Its 50 business and professional people are helping pay a young man through medical college under terms of a "good faith" agreement under which he eventually will open a general practice there. — A.B.

When two honest politicians meet

Refreshing, that's what the report was of the meeting of two unlikely political allies.

Shirley Chisholm — female, women's liberationist, black, liberal — made the trek to the hospital room of George Wallace — male, exponent of Southern womanhood, white, conservative.

And what happened?

Well, for one thing, they laughed; a lot, as Miss Chisholm put it afterward, as to whether it should be a Chisholm-Wallace ticket or a Wallace-Chisholm ticket.

Another thing, they were nice to each other. The governor told her he admired her: "People can trust you. You say the same things in the South that you say in New York — just as I say the same things in the North that I do in the South. People can believe you." And Miss Chisholm said of the governor: "He's a very determined man. And he's full of spunk. He wasn't feeling at all well that day. But even then you could still feel him fighting. He's going to be a very leading factor in the convention."

We plan to remember this civilized meeting of two human beings longer than McGovern and Humphrey arguing about who's the more liberal.—A.B.

Too successful

Of course, festivals can be too unusual and too successful. Consider our report Sunday on New Salem, N.D., where the annual Bachelor Days suddenly blossomed into a miniature Woodstock. Over its four-year history the festival had attracted bachelors, and bachelorettes on a look-me-over mission. The sponsors had a record of 15 marriages of ranchers and farmers as evidence of mission accomplished. But this year 4,000 — mostly young people — jammed the small town and spent the weekend raising you know what. — A.B.

Impertinent question

When the Minnesota lawyers, meeting at Rochester last week, narrowly approved asking the legislature to reform divorce laws to eliminate dishonesty from the process and to ratify the equal rights amendment to the Constitution, how many women delegates were present? — A.B.

Nobody's going to stop Senator McGovern now

By SMITH HEMPSTONE

WASHINGTON — Frank Mankiewicz, that refugee from Camelot who runs George McGovern's national political campaign, might be forgiven for musing with Macbeth that "it were well it were done quickly." And indeed, given the Gadarene haste with which footloose delegates have been jumping aboard the McGovern bandwagon, Mankiewicz may have his way.

With the conclusion Saturday night of the delegate selection process which began March 7 in the tear-stained snows of New Hampshire, McGovern is only a few score short of the 1,500 delegate votes required for nomination. McGovern, then, is almost certain to be the Democratic candidate, if not on the first ballot, then on the second.

HUBERT Humphrey, the Happy Warrior of so many Democratic campaigns, still maintains that McGovern will not get it on the first, or second ballots, and that "if he doesn't get it on the second ballot, he (McGovern) won't get it. Ignoring the fact that for a man as ebullient and optimistic as Humphrey that statement amounts to virtually an admission of defeat, there are at least two good reasons why a "stop-McGovern" movement at Miami Beach will fail.

The first involves the composition of the convention. When the Republicans convene in the same city the following month, only the names, as they say, will have been changed to protect the innocent: The delegates, in ideology, physical appearance and social background will be the same sort of earnest, smooth-shaven, comfortable, middle-aged, white community leaders who participated in the laying on of hands with Tom Dewey in 1948, Dwight Eisenhower in 1952 and 1956, and Richard Nixon in 1968.

Substituting for:

William F. Buckley

This will not be the case at the Democrats' Woodstock South, where a peddler of those little metal American flag lapel pins could starve to death. As a consequence of the change in the guidelines for selecting delegates to the Democratic national convention (thoughtfully drawn up by a fellow named — you guessed it — George McGovern), roughly 80 percent of the delegates will be attending their first convention. Approximately one-fifth will be under 30, another fifth will be blacks or Chicanos and about 37 percent will be women.

This is a convention tailored to the likes of McGovern and his so-called "new politics," rather than to Humphrey or any other centrist. Furthermore, McGovern's delegates are ideologically committed to him (or at least to their perception of him) and they have the scent of victory in their nostrils.

DELEGATES committed to the other contenders, in contrast, tend to be pragmatic, discouraged and, human nature being what it is, unwilling to be left at the station when the train pulls out. Consequently, in a multi-ballot convention, the attrition is more likely to be from the ranks of Humphrey and Muskie supporters than from those of McGovern.

Secondly, McGovern's foes lack a credible nominee to act as a stopper. Muskie or Jackson might have fulfilled that role had they not been forced into humiliating retreats from the primaries when they demonstrated themselves to be turgid campaigners. Humphrey, tarred with LBJ's Vietnam brush and reeling from six consecutive June primary defeats, is hardly likely to excite anybody in July.

The one Democrat with sufficient national clout to stop McGovern is, of course, Teddy Kennedy. But why should Kennedy, still bedecked with the albatross of Chappaquiddick, seek to undermine the candidacy of a political ally willing to undertake the task of taking on a well-entrenched Republican incumbent?

SO THE CHANCES look good (if that is the proper expression) for McGovern's nomination on either the first or the second ballot. Being cautious men, he and Mankiewicz would like to see it all locked up by the time they unpack their bags in Miami Beach. But they also have to be careful to see to it that the delegates who put them over the top are the right people. An obvious deal with Mayor Daley could hurt McGovern with his hot-eyed young partisans as much as a blatant sell-out to the Black Caucus could injure him in suburbia.

But one way or another, McGovern seems assured of the nomination. It cost his supporters $6 million and there's a deficit of more than $1.5 million to be added to the Democratic national committee's $9 million in debts.

Given the lack of enthusiasm for McGovern in the South and among labor leaders, so much may never before have been spent in such a quixotic quest.

Nixon making appeal for votes of Jews, Catholics

William S. White

dential campaigns have been run very scared indeed in New York, in a resigned feeling that victory there was obtainable, if at all, only through some fluke or some unaccountable Democratic weakness.

To change this state of affairs in a crucial melting-pot state, Mr. Nixon is taking steps now not only to assist his own reelection but also to create for the future a political climate more hospitable to Republicans who will come after him to seek the White House. In this he is acting much in the spirit in which Prime Minister Harold Macmillan set out to broaden the base of the Conservative party in Great Britain.

Macmillan, as he once told this columnist in London, started from the assumption that the cliché that British intellectuals "would never" vote Conservative was only that — a cliché. In Britain, his notion worked. He delatched from the Labor party a critical mass of intellectuals — "those fellows in the white coats," he called them, thinking of them as mainly scientists.

MR. NIXON, for his part, is operating on the conviction that important numbers of the powerful Irish and Jewish vote in New York can be done as to 1972 it is not undeniably so — from their stereotyped traditional association with the Democrats. The theory is that if this can be done as to 1972 it is unconstitutional — again to use a term applied by Macmillan as to British intellectuals — to suppose that it could be done after 1972.

At any rate, special appeals to Catholic and to Jewish voters, especially the traditional-minded, are now top-priority matters at the White House — where the hint can be heard that Gov. Nelson Rockefeller will be offered a high post in the administration, probably as Secretary of Defense, after the election.

As to the Catholics, the President is standing adamantly against over-the-counter abortions and, in general, against ultrapermissiveness in society. As to the Jews, his record on these matters and also in aid of the defense of Israel — where he is something of a hero — is not going unnoticed.

Teachers should figure all economic gains

An editorial in Rochester Post-Bulletin

It's hardly unusual for employees and employer to differ on the total cost of proposed increases in salaries and fringe benefits. But Rochester taxpayers can be excused for being confused over estimates by public school teachers and the local School Board in which the estimate by teachers is less than half that of the school administration.

The teachers want (we got our knuckles rapped last year for saying "demand") a 7 percent pay hike in 1972-73 and a 2 percent raise, plus cost-of-living increase, the following school year. They estimate this would cost $1.1 million if there were no cost-of-living increase the second year.

The school administration contends, however, that the teachers' demands (oops, requests) would come to a total cost of about $2.6 million — a boost of about 22 percent.

This disagreement is also all tangled up in debate over whether the Phase II wage guidelines permit such percentage raises with, not surprisingly, the teachers saying yes and the School Board saying no.

The major factor in dispute — both as to total cost of proposed salary increases and as to compliance with federal wage guidelines — is whether to count "increment pay" to teachers. Rochester BA-degree teachers are currently hired at a base pay of $7,300, and advance to a top of $11,864 after 12 years of experience. Thus, for 12 years teachers get an "automatic" pay raise averaging about 4 percent a year until they reach the top of the scale. This means, in effect, they get two raises annually because they advance one step up the increment ladder, plus the whole salary ladder rises.

In their cost estimate of $1.1 million for their salary proposal, teachers did not count the cost of increment pay; the School Board did in its estimate of $2.6 million.

Surely it is obvious that the School Board, which must pay the bills, has to figure all the costs, not just some of them, as the teachers are apparently doing.

And when the School Board further states that it will have available only about $1,580,000 in additional funds over the next two school years to cover all increases in costs for the school district, one hardly needs to be a CPA to know that payroll increases for teachers — meaning all increases in salary and fringe benefit improvement — cannot be more than two-thirds of that figure, let alone exceed it.

So, the total cost of any package of salary and fringe benefit increases must be figured in. We urge the teachers to refigure their cost estimates. Maybe the School Board's estimate is too high, but one estimate that is less than half as much as another makes no sense. All the costs must be included.

One more syllable

When a girl is single, she's pensive. After she gets married, she becomes expensive. — Chicago Tribune.

Who runs the country anyhow?

Dr. Dan Kieselhorst, Winona State College political science faculty, in "Take Issue," publication of United Campus Ministry:

It is my firm conviction that a person who is sincerely concerned with bringing about meaningful and significant change in this country — as opposed to innocuous reform — should reject electoral politics as a means to achieving his aims.

This belief is based on the recognition that the locus of fundamental political and economic power lies not within the party and voting structures, but resides rather in the hands of autonomous and private individuals and corporations who simply use the party and electioneering structures as convenient tools in their exercise of power. The parties do not make decisions independently from these individuals, nor do they possess any meaningful power outside of their purview. And it seems likely that if the parties were to become antagonistic to the interests of this private ruling group, the latter would simply employ other mechanisms and organizations to carry out their designs.

AS THINGS stand now the major function of electoral politics is to bind the masses of people to the prevailing political system, and this is done by making a pretense of granting political power and participation to the masses of people, by allowing them to "choose" their leaders. This attempt to camouflage the elitist character of our political system by allowing people to believe that they have made a significant choice by endorsing one of two preselected oligarchs (or by selecting two of a dozen or so oligarchs, if we want to include the role of political activists in party primaries and caucuses) is very effective in stabilizing and perpetuating the oligarchy.

As we participate in party and voting activities we inevitably deceive ourselves into thinking that our political and economic conditions are self-created. We assume that it must be our own fault that war, poverty, racism, competition, and pollution dominate our society, because we have made the decisions. This leads us to tolerate the intolerable. It tends to bind people to an exploitative system that is ultimately unconcerned with the welfare of the majority of people in this country and abroad.

IT SEEMS CLEAR to me that any politician who has any chance at all of being successful in our electoral process must meet all of the following criteria:

1. He must support the basic system of corporate capitalism and its dedication to profit rather than human welfare.
2. He must support a defense policy based on the irrational belief that the people of this country can and should be "defended" by instruments of violence, destruction, and war.
3. He must be dedicated to a socio-economic status quo which allows a small but powerful ruling class to dominate our lives.

These prerequisites are accepted by a McGovern, a McCarthy, or even a Chisholm just as certainly as they are accepted by a Humphrey, a Johnson, or a Nixon. Electoral politics means that in the long run one may only choose between Tweedle Dee and Tweedle Dum.

What is so tragic about all of this is the fact that as long as we accept (by voting and participating in electoral politics) the games (i.e., the exploitative, inhuman, and destructive social and political system), we end up by endorsing and lending respect and legitimacy to it. Rather than seeking the best pistol in a game of Russian roulette, we ought to simply refuse to play the game.

As long as we continue to play, we are allowed to choose only the lesser of evils, but in so choosing we are endorsing, legitimizing, and granting credibility to evil and insanity. We must begin to recognize and to admit to ourselves that the rules of the game are designed to benefit a small ruling class, and only in this manner can we acquire knowledge that there is no possibility of meaningful and significant change within the system. To be sure, a McGovern or a Julian Bond may bring out cosmetic "reform," but this can only serve to perpetuate an evil by allowing the corrupt system to operate a little more efficiently. It allows us to overlook the truism that within this system the rules of the game are designed to prevent ultimate justice, equity, freedom, and love.

ELECTIONS truly do serve the function of allowing us to vote out of office one oligarch or one set of oligarchs after they have already wrecked havoc on our society, but it demands that we replace them with another set of oligarchs who accept the same values as their predecessors and who may or may not be able to more efficiently assuage our feelings of frustration, misery, and despair.

It is no coincidence that a socialist, a communist, an anarchist, or a black militant has never been nominated as a candidate for a major party. He could not be nominated because he would not support the socio-political-economic status quo. And to vote for a third party candidate who has no chance of winning — our electoral machinery being designed as it is — would not really be an effective means of protest, because it lends credibility to an incredible system. It suggests that somehow the system is fair and tolerant and allows for all opinions to be heard, and thereby suggests that the vast majority actively support and benefit by the present insanity.

Realizing that the system only tolerates supporters of the status quo or opinions which are divergent but harmless — but not revolutionary opinions which have some chance of being effective (e.g., the alien and seditious in 1800, draft resisters during WWI, communists in the 1950s, the SDS members and Black Panthers today) — people who sincerely want meaningful and significant change should refuse to support and legitimize the status quo by participating in its meaningless electioneering. Meaningful change in this country has come, and is only capable of coming, outside of the instituted political structures — out in the streets and in the local communities where people insist on the right to actively participate in making the decisions that affect their lives, rather than allowing established politicians to make their decisions for them. We must refuse to play Russian roulette if we don't want people to be destroyed any more.

Lions Club organized at Trempealeau

TREMPEALEAU, Wis. (Special) — Dave Birch was elected president of the Trempealeau Lions Club at an organizational meeting at Sullivan's Supper Club.

He is the local vocational education coordinator for the Galveston-Eltick-Trempealeau and Holmen schools.

Peter Tabor, G-E-T junior high school principal, was elected secretary. Other officers will be named at the July 10 meeting.

Claude McCormick and Peter Tabor are co-chairmen of charter night, when the newly formed club will receive its official charter from Lions International. This event is planned for the early part of September.

Those attending the organizational meeting included Len Amberg, Lions district governor, and James Wenzel, state secretary. They assisted with the orientation of members and presented charter members with membership kits.

Rushford couple attends ARC convention

RUSHFORD, Minn. — Mr. and Mrs. Ben Maroushek, Rushford, attended the Association for Retarded Children's state convention at Marshall, Minn., June 9-11, which had as its theme, "The Whole Thing."

Highlight of the convention was a panel of mentally retarded young adults "telling it like it is." They answered questions including "What it is like to live in our society being handicapped?"

The young adults said they preferred being called physically handicapped instead of retarded children.

The panelists will be attending the national ARC convention in October at Montreal, Quebec, Canada.

Declare military budgets can be cut

 It contains a strong pledge of jobs for all, with the government providing public-service employment to guarantee opportunities for those left out of private employment.

Rejecting amendments tending both toward a more hawkish and more dovish stance, the platform writers pledged that a Democratic president would make "the first order of business an immediate and complete withdrawal of all U.S.

forces in Indochina" and said this country "will no longer seek to determine the future of the nations of Indochina."

A military-policy plank declares that "the military budget can be reduced substantially with no weakening of our national security." Abolition of the draft was urged.

The rejected Wallace antibusing plank would have declared the party "unalterably opposed to busing to achieve racial balance."

The adopted plank describes busing as "another tool (that) must continue to be available according to Supreme Court decisions to eliminate legally imposed segregation and improve the quality of education for all children."

Beyond these issues, the platform, which has taken on the proportions of a book, ranges widely over environmental promises; a long list of rights for veterans, women, children, American Indians and others; housing and urban-transportation aids and agricultural programs, with emphasis on preserving the family farm.

The committee drove to complete its major planks and leave time for voting on dissenting and minority proposals before its rules-imposed deadline later today. The printed platform draft must be mailed to all the more than 3,000 delegates not later than Thursday.

First test of reforms

Credentials group set to rule

By LEE BYRD
 WASHINGTON (AP) — The Credentials Committee of the Democratic National Convention prepared to rule today on delegate challenges in three states in the inaugural test of reforms aimed at fair representation of women, blacks and youth.

Challenges to the delegations of South Carolina, Alabama and Florida were the first of 30 to be decided by the 150-member credentials panel.

Although each case differs the first rulings could indicate how far the committee is willing to bend reform guidelines to accommodate local party practices.

Leading the docket is South Carolina, whose 32 delegates were contested on grounds that the seven women, five youths and 11 blacks are not enough.

But a report by hearing examiner George Peach Taylor found only that "the state party has not taken sufficient affirmative steps to encourage representation of women."

There were no reform violations, he said, in terms of blacks and young persons. The findings by examiners found that the party failed to take "appropriate affirmative action" on the issue.

The committee spent most of Monday settling procedural matters, including a routine vote to accredit 725 delegates from states where there are no challenges.

Three delegations, California, Virginia and Mississippi, argued their cases Monday before examiners whose findings aren't likely to reach the committee for several days.

Sen. George McGovern's Democratic opponents hope to wrest away 151 of his presidential nominating votes in the California case, on grounds that the state's winner-take-all primary violated reforms against the unit rule.

Alabama's 37 delegates were challenged by a rival Democratic faction which contends that minorities are underrepresented and that there were irregularities in the slate-making process. In that case, however, examiner William Walsh reported that the Democratic regulars took "every conceivable step to encourage representation of women."

In Florida, a request by the Women's Political Caucus for boosting the number of women from 34 to 41 was backed by blacks and young persons.

The findings by examiners found that the party failed to take "appropriate affirmative action" on the issue.

The committee spent most of Monday settling procedural matters, including a routine vote to accredit 725 delegates from states where there are no challenges.

Wallace says he will not appear at Bremer trial

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace has told a state prosecution aide that he will not appear at the trial of Arthur H. Bremer, charged with shooting him.

Wallace, one of 46 persons subpoenaed for the state case scheduled to begin July 12, received a summons and a letter Monday at his Holy Cross Hospital room in Silver Spring, Md. The letter, from Arthur H. Marshall, Prince Georges County state's attorney, said Wallace's appearance at the trial was not mandatory for his health or other reasons he was not able to attend.

Elvin Stanton, a public relations assistant in the state's attorney's office, said he read the subpoena and letter to Wallace in his hospital room Monday, was thanked and told by Wallace that he would not be able to appear.

The state's trial is to begin two days after the opening of the Democratic National Convention which Wallace has said he will attend if his health permits.

Says instability of Jewish family shows steep rise

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The international president of B'nai B'rith says instability in the Jewish family is growing at an alarming rate.

"Ten years ago, you very seldom heard of a Jewish youngster appearing in juvenile court," David M. Blumberg of Knoxville, Tenn., said Monday. "Our divorce rate was one-fourth the rate at that time; we had some intermarriage, but not much."

"But today we find that the Jewish people find themselves in the normal pattern. Our kids are drug addicts. The divorce rate has increased even more than the ratio of the general population, and intermarriage is a very serious problem for us."

Blumberg said at the B'nai B'rith District 2 convention that he believed the problem began when the older generation "opted for middle-class norms" rather than old traditions.

FIDDLER TO CLOSE

NEW YORK (AP) — Broadway's long-run champion, the musical "Fiddler on the Roof," is to close Sunday after 3,224 performances. The show opened Sept. 22, 1964, and two weeks ago hosted the 3,224 record of "Life With Father."

Awareness workshop at CST is scheduled

A second College of Saint Teresa summer workshop evening course on "Expanding Conscious Awareness" will begin at 7 p.m. Wednesday with a video-taped program and live lecture in the television studio on the fourth floor of Saint Teresa Hall.

The introductory lecture on the Silva mind control method is open to the public without charge.

The evening class will meet from 7 to 11 p.m. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings for the topic, "Controlled Relaxation," July 5, 6 and 7, "General Self-Improvement," July 19, 20 and 21, "Extraneous Perception," and July 26, 27 and 28, "Applied Extrasensory Perception."

A workshop on four Saturdays in July and also a workshop two weekends in July will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday with a free public lecture again being offered in the television studio.

There are varying tuition charges for adults, high school and college students, for more than one member of a family enrolled at one time and a family plan. Clergy of any denomination and members of religious communities are invited to take advantage of special scholarships.

Registration is open and may be made at the opening sessions of any of the five workshops to be offered by Sister Edith Zamboni during the regular summer session.

Goodview gets PCA extension on sewer plan

Kent A. Gernander, Goodview attorney, told councilmen Monday a 30-day extension has been granted the village by the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency (PCA) for negotiating a sewage treatment contract with Winona.

According to Gernander, the PCA, in granting the extension, requested assurance that the village would proceed with preparation of plans and specifications for a connection between the village and Winona sewer systems. The PCA set Aug. 15 as the final date for submission of village plans for approval.

Preliminary plans for the connection submitted to PCA in April, have not been approved. The PCA has taken no action on the engineering report and preliminary plans for an improved sewage treatment plant that would meet present standards. The report and plans were ordered by the PCA and made at a cost of $2,500, according to Rex A. Johnson, village clerk.

Councilmen tabled a preliminary plan presented by Wilmer L. Larson, on a development that would provide building lots for 50 homes.

The tabling was done so council members could check engineering details before making a decision. Larson presented a preliminary drawing of the proposed plat north of 8th Street and east at 51st Avenue.

Drainage licenses were approved for Frank O'Laughlin Plumbing & Heating; Charles J. Olsen & Sons; Sanitary Plumbing & Heating Co.; Winona Plumbing Company, Inc., and H & M Plumbing & Heating.

The committee also heard representatives of Oconto County lake property owners seek state help in lake cleanup.

Mrs. Elizabeth Muench and Mrs. Lavern Witt, both Green Bay, said the 600 acre Chute Lake on the Oconto River has become progressively weed clogged despite periodic weed cutting.

Dirk Vari Duzee, Appleton, said the 60 acre Windfall Lake cannot be cleaned unless wood, bark and other debris are removed from the bottom.

Claims clarification of views will separate him from 'radicals'

South Dakota governor says McGovern will win on first ballot

By GERRY NELSON
BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) — Gov. Richard Kneip of South Dakota says Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., will win the Democratic presidential nomination on the first ballot and will "clarify" his views in a way that will separate him from party "radicals."

Kneip said he agrees with a recent assessment by Minnesota Republican leaders that the Midwest will be a major battleground between McGovern and President Richard Nixon.

But that reflection from Minnesota is from radicals who are not a part of George McGovern," Kneip said.

The reference was to the recent Minnesota Democratic Farmer-Labor (DFL) party convention. It passed controversial platform planks calling for legalization of marijuana, amnesty for draft evaders and marriage rights for homosexuals.

The Minnesota convention was not controlled by McGovern forces, but they were given the major credit for the controversial planks.

Kneip said McGovern's view on those subjects are "totally different" than those of his Minnesota support group.

"McGovern will clarify a lot of those things in the next month," Kneip said.

"You can't be everywhere in the country at once, and as heretofore, Guy will not be a delegate to the convention."

Estimate loss of $20 million in west central area
MORRIS, Minn. (AP) — Wet, muddy farmland in west-central Minnesota has resulted in an estimated loss of about $20 million, agriculture authorities say.

Representatives of the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service met Monday with Civil Defense officials to discuss the crop disaster situation and to establish factual information for the Office of Emergency Preparedness.

Jim Erchul of the state Civil Defense Department, said damage in seven counties has amounted to an estimated $20 million this spring and early summer.

Midwest governors dine on buffalo

By GALE TOLLIN
BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) — Governors of Midwest states dined on barbecued buffalo and forgot their political differences Monday night, under a full moon and a bright western sky.

The chief executive of a dozen states, their wives and aides and area dignitaries gathered for an informal, Old West get-together. The setting was Camp Lincoln, now a state park but once the Army post where Gen. George Custer's troops set off on what was to become their last stand.

The governors were in Bismarck for the annual Midwest Governors Conference. But the formal discussions, the early part of the day eased into an afternoon of golf, a talk by band leader Lawrence Welk and the light-hearted evening of conviviality at Camp Lincoln.

Buffalo from the herd of Harold Schafer, Bismarck industrialist, was barbecued in a pit. Schafer himself carved the meat and spiked it onto the paper plates of the governors.

Baked beans, cold slaw, baked potatoes, pickles, coffee—and plastic "silverware"—were added before the guests took their plates to picnic tables covered with red and white checkered paper.

As the governors ate, they were serenaded by Shrine singers who wore old-time trooper uniforms and sang songs of the west.

The governors' noon meal was at the Apple Creek County Club, where the singing was by Miss North Dakota, Georgia Becker, and the only speech was that by Welk.

Welk, reared on a farm near Strasburg, N.D., urged that government and business try the training and profit-sharing system he said he had used successfully with his "musical family."

Welk said his technique has been to take a young person, develop him into a star, share profits with him and eventually give him a voice in running the operation.

"There are so few people willing to help our young people," said Welk. "They need a chance to learn a trade."

"Think about this concept of business," Welk urged the governors. "Put this type of program into effect."

Chicago woman dies in Wisconsin; road toll hits 490

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Death of a Chicago woman in a two-car accident which injured three others in Oneida County raised Wisconsin's 1972 traffic toll to 490 today, compared with 426 one year ago.

Mrs. Margaret Jarrett, 61, was killed Monday when the car driven by her husband, Arthur, 67, collided with another as the Jarrett auto tried to turn from U. S. 45 onto County Trunk Q.

Jarrett and two persons in the other car, Mrs. Elaine M. Bonneau, 51, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Arnelia M. Willing, 73, both Oshkosh, were reported in serious condition at a Rhinelander hospital. The driver of the second car, Ronald V. Bonneau, 54, Oshkosh, was listed in fair condition.

Texas wheat producers to join market program
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Texas Wheat Producers Board will join Great Plains Wheat, Inc., in foreign market development programs, effective July 1, the farm organization announced here today.

Great Plains Wheat, Inc., already has six state wheat organizations as members, including those from Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, North Dakota, Oklahoma and South Dakota.

First solid leads

Ransom, submachine gun used in hijacking found
By DARRELL CHRISTIAN
PERU, Ind. (AP) — Law enforcement officers have located the submachine gun used in the hijacking of an American Airlines jet and $500,000 ransom, the first solid leads since their search began Saturday.

Officers resume today hunting for the young man with pock-marked face and open sores who they believe probably was killed as he parachuted from the jet over north-central Indiana.

Indiana State Police Capt. Rex Dillman, who has been coordinating local efforts in the search, said Monday night, "I'm inclined to start slacking off now. I'm pretty well satisfied the man didn't come down safely. If he came down safely and alive, I don't think there's any doubt he's out of the area by now."

Lowell Elliott, 61, a farmer, stumbled across a sealed canvas mail bag with the ransom money in a soybean field Monday.

The 45-pound bag was buried a couple of inches in an open field about 250 feet from a county road. "At first I thought it was a ground hog in the field," Elliott said, "but it didn't move so I took a closer look."

A count at FBI headquarters in Indianapolis found $500,000 of the $502,500 ransom. Authorities said the $2,500 was in a separate package and was still missing. However, police in St. Louis said the hijacker gave $1,500 to the two stewardesses as a tip and they turned it over to the FBI. The stewardesses "said he told them they had been real nice and here's a tip," said Police Sgt. Edward Lozenzo.

Five hours after Elliott's discovery, Ronald E. Miller, 22, uncovered in his cornfield a Spittfire submachine gun the hijacker is believed to have used when he commandeered the American Boeing 727 Friday night shortly after it left St. Louis for Tulsa, Okla.

Miller was putting liquid nitrogen on his cornfield when a blade of his tractor applicator machine struck the gun.

James Martin, FBI agent in charge in Indiana, said the gun and money were on a line that coincided with the plane's course after the hijacker ordered it from St. Louis to Toronto.

Martin said the search was narrowed to an area five miles long and a mile wide, much of it flat farmland with thickets of trees.

For construction
'U' says it will need $108 million
ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The University of Minnesota, citing expenditures in the health sciences, says it will need about $108 million from the 1973 Legislature for planning and construction.

The university asked for about $183 million from the 1971 Legislature and got about $41 million.

University officials told legislators Monday during a hearing in St. Paul, they will need nearly $24 million for construction in the area of health sciences.

Among other major requests for the 1973-75 biennium will be $14 million for the state's share toward a 15-story medical school building, $15 million for a new law school building and $9 million for a building to house the electrical engineering department.

The projects were all among the school's priorities for 1971, but were slashed from the budget by the legislature.

'Clean water campaign' by soap company worries Lucey

By ARTHUR L. SRB
MADISON, Wis. (AP) — "We don't want to get tied into any soap-selling venture," an aide to Gov. Patrick J. Lucey said.

A spokesman for the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) expressed similar skepticism about the soap promotion and "clean water campaign" launched by Lever Brothers recently in Wisconsin.

Hugh Downs, television personality who is pushing the effort, didn't appear the least bit surprised when advised of the official's attitude.

"I did my best to shoot it full of holes before I committed myself," Downs said.

Now he is hop-scotching around Wisconsin, trying to drum up enthusiasm among citizens about the need to combat water pollution.

On a recent stop, Downs visited with Lucey and explained the "clean water campaign."

Part of that campaign involves soap sales.

Under the promotion, Lever Brothers has agreed to contribute two cents to the University of Wisconsin Extension for every purchase of its laundry detergents.

The company launched the pilot project in May with a $10,000 contribution. The funds are to be given on an "unrestricted basis" for use in educational research projects.

Downs, a youthful looking 51 with a modish hair style was relaxed as he fielded questions during a lengthy interview.

Why did he get involved?

Does he have any particular expertise in the area of water resources? Why was Wisconsin chosen for the pilot project?

"I became involved partly because I now live in Arizona where water is scarce," Downs said. "Where water is precious, there's a tendency to be concerned."

"I'm not an expert," he said. "I'm not a chemist. I can only hope I can lay out the facts given to me by experts and help get the public involved in the clean water effort."

Downs has a ready answer to those who question Lever Brothers' motives.

"There are those who say this is being done to enhance the corporate image," Downs said. "I say I hope it will. After all, the business sector is not going to survive unless it behaves responsibly."

Wisconsin was selected for the campaign, he said, "because the state has a lot of water" and because many of its public officials, including Sen. Gaylord Nelson and Rep. Henry Reuss, have been leaders in conservation causes.

Downs indicated he is anxious to get back into network television, but not on the early morning Today show which he hosted daily for almost a decade.

"I miss the Today show," he said, "but ever after nine years, I never got used to getting up at 4:30 in the morning."

Social Security bill—biggest changes since system set up

By JOE HALL
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Social Security bill now being prepared for Senate debate will make the most important changes in retirement levels since the system first was set up in 1935.

Congressional supporters say enactment of the legislation will mean for the first time that Social Security will pay monthly benefits which will assure a good life for the elderly. The payments could go as high as $2,000 a month in 21st-century dollars for a young person just now starting to work who reaches 65 about 43 years from now.

In the early years of the system after it was signed into law by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, payments were so small officials described them merely as a base of support for the aged.

But Social Security levels have been moving upward steadily in recent years, climaxed by a burst of activity since 1970.

In January, 1970, a 15 per cent hike took effect and, a year later, an additional 10 per cent was granted.

The bill to come before the Senate in mid-July is certain to contain at least another 10 per cent, which the Finance Committee has approved. But it seems more likely to be 20 per cent since 64 of the 100 senators have endorsed the higher figure.

In another provision there would be an adjustment in benefits and taxes every time the price index rises 3 per cent.

Taking into account all these factors the Social Security Administration was asked to calculate what benefits would be in 2015 for a young person starting to work now at age 22 and retiring at 65 after paying maximum Social Security taxes each year of his life.

Key problem for colleges

Diversified education at reasonable prices

By NANCY J. BEGALKE
MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Academic diversity with high-quality education—for low prices, is the biggest problem currently facing the nation's colleges, the chief executive officers of six American university systems agreed Monday.

The six, representing 768,728 full-time students at the Universities of Wisconsin, New York, Illinois, California, Texas and Missouri, met for a two-day conference emphasizing budget planning and preparation.

"We often hear of the undergraduates' frustration," said Ernest Boyer, chancellor of the State University of New York system. "This is not because of poor teaching—it represents a lack of program alternatives. Students today demand greater flexibility. Lumping them all into the same category just won't do anymore."

LONGEVITY ABOUNDS . . . Ages of the five children of the late Mr. and Mrs. Martin Magnuson, Rushford, Minn., total 37 years. During a get-together at the John M. Magnuson home, Rushford, when figuring how their families had grown in numbers and ages, the five discovered they have a total of 24 children, 89 grandchildren, and 29 great-grandchildren. Born five miles west of Rushford on the home farm, the children of the late Martin and Jacobina Magnuson are: standing from left, Melvin Magnuson, 72, Wabasha; John M. Magnuson, 68, Rushford; and Garman Magnuson, 82, Long Beach, Calif.; and seated, Mrs. Clara Kahoun, 75, Rushford, and Mrs. Inga Helleland, 80, Rushford. (Bettie Bunke photo)

For an individual who worked through his life under a $12,000 base, the amount needed to finance the 20 per cent across-the-board increase, the answer was that his benefits would be $2,360 a month, or $3,540 for a couple.

These startling figures compare with present average payments of $133 for individuals, $223 for couples.

The maximum payment which an individual can receive who retires this year is $216. A young person who started work this year and retired in 2015 would get $295 under present law.

Inflation obviously would take a toll of the sharply higher future payments the bill would provide.

However, the Social Security Administration figured that, even in constant 1972 dollars, the monthly check for a person who worked a lifetime under the $12,000 base and with the 20 per cent increase would be worth $735. This compares with the $2,360 he would receive in 2015 dollars.

The taxes to finance these payments also would go up but not in the same proportion.

3 percent increases allowed service firms

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Price Commission has decided on a 3-per-cent price-increase limit for large service firms such as hotels, theater chains and auto-repair shops.

Even though the rate of increase in the service area was low in the latest Consumer Price Index, Grayson said the commission decided to act based on a "feeling that this area has one of the highest potentialities" for inflation.

Only the largest service firms would be affected. The administration last month exempted most barber shops, small laundries and dry cleaners, bakers, plumbers and other small businesses with 60 or fewer employees.

Less than 5 per cent of the service industries in the nation will be affected, commission officials said.

In any case, Grayson said, the ceiling would be retroactive to last May 21, when the commission announced it was considering the limit for the first time.

Grayson said the seven-member agency reached agreement on the ceilings at a meeting last Wednesday, but ordered the staff to go into all the ramifications because of the complexities involved.

Original water skier to be at Lake City fete

LAKE CITY, Minn. — The invention of the sport of water skiing will be celebrated here on Sunday in conjunction with the year long celebration of Lake City's Centennial.

Ralph Samuelson, 69, the originator of water skiing, will be on hand to tell everyone how he started the sport just 50 years ago on Lake Pepin, a wide place in the Mississippi River.

There will be a big parade, two-hour water show and competition, a canoe derby with 200 canoes and dedication of a plaque honoring Samuelson.

NOW A retired turkey farmer, Samuelson said water skiing was an outgrowth of his interest in snow skiing.

"I was a daredevil in those days," he said. "I would do anything for a thrill. People thought I was nuts when I said I would water ski. Well, I did it. And look what it has led to."

Samuelson recalls that the first water skier was seven-foot long barrel staves. They didn't work out so well, so he went to a lumber yard and bought two long pine boards at $1 each. They were eight feet long and nine inches wide. He hand-fashioned them, and skied on them until they broke.

He still has the second pair of skis which will be on display at the Lake City celebration. He curved them by steaming in boiling water.

He added sections of rubber treading for footing, and an iron strap for reinforcement at the point where the 15-pound skis curved upwards. A simple leather foot strap was used.

CROWDS gathered to watch Samuelson on Lake Pepin. They thought he was "some sort of lunatic" but they marveled at his skills. He then went on to take part in shows throughout the U.S. and Europe.

He didn't have the advantage of today's modern boats. Most of the time, he was pulled by 30-foot boats with 200 horsepower motors at speeds up to 35 miles an hour. His show included being pulled by an airplane.

The American Water Skiing Association now officially credits Samuelson with the invention of water skiing, water skiing, jumping and slalom.

Ranchers, packers, agriculturists doubt quota action will cut prices

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ranchers, meat packers and agricultural associations say they doubt whether the lifting of quota restrictions on meat imports will be able to ride herd on rising meat prices.

The American National Cattlemen's Association went one step further Monday and suggested the lifting of quotas by President Nixon could hike meat prices even higher.

Association president John Trotman said, "Competing products could possibly come in and raise their (competing products') prices and Mrs. Housewife could possibly wind up paying more than she is now."

"We are very disturbed and upset at the President's actions," he said.

Matt Gorges of the Walt Gorges Meat Co. at Harlingen in the Rio Grande Valley (Tex.) said he thought the President's action would have a negligible effect on most Texas consumers. He predicted upcoming increases in the price of steaks, roasts and other high-quality meats would offset any reductions.

"The mistake that was made was not freezing prices at the raw-meat level at the feedlots and the ranches," Gorges said. "The ranchers are getting more for their cattle than ever before."

The president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, William J. Kuhn said, "Farmers and ranchers are relieved that a decision has been made to avoid imposing price ceilings on raw agricultural commodities. However, we are deeply concerned at the continuing reluctance of the Nixon administration and Congress to deal with the root cause of inflation."

Gov. Robert Ray of North Dakota said he didn't think "this was the time" to lift meat import quotas. It is coming at a time when farmers are beginning to realize reasonable profits for their investments and their great efforts.

Ray said lifting the import quotas on meats "will have the effect of stabilizing the market and prices" but that lifting the quotas is preferable to price controls.

Rep. John Culver, D-Iowa, assailed the President's action as a "meaningless act of showmanship. He is giving the false impression that current super-market beef prices are caused by farmers receiving exorbitant prices for their cattle."

Rep. Wiley Mayne, R-Iowa, agreed with Culver by calling Nixon's move "unnecessary and unwise."

Officials of the Amalgamated Meatcutters' Union said in a statement imports of foreign beef are usually low-quality beef suitable only for sausage or hamburger and would not affect the prices of higher-quality cuts of meat.

"With equal effect," AMU spokesman said, the President might have sought to cut the price of Cadillacs by encouraging the import of bicycles. Today's move was political tokenism."

The AMU spokesman claimed there has been a four per cent decline in beef production which would only put further strain on consumer demands for beef.

Two of the country's larger meat packing firms, Swift Fresh Meats Co., and Wilson Certified Foods, said they expect the President's action would do little to stem the tide of spiraling meat prices.

President Noel Dike of Swift said the effect on meat prices "will depend entirely on the amount of meat available from other countries."

A spokesman for the American Meat Institute said about seven per cent of the meat consumed in the United States this year was imported from other countries. He said many of these countries may also be facing meat shortages and would not be able to significantly increase their volume of meat imports.

A spokesman for the Chicago Mercantile Exchange, a commodities futures market, said if the supply of meat in the United States increases "it will generally have a bearish effect on the market and draw prices down."

Meat imports

Expect Australia to exceed quota

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although a precise estimate is uncertain, trade sources say Australia may be able to exceed its share of the U.S. beef-import quota now that President Nixon has ordered the lid removed.

An Australian trade official, who asked not to be named, told a reporter "we're happy" with the White House order issued Monday and that an allotment will be made by Australian exporters to secure their share of the U.S. market.

The order lifted meat quota restrictions for the remainder of 1972 as a move by the administration to help soften rising food prices, particularly retail meat costs. Under a 1964 law, certain kinds of meat, mostly fresh, chilled and frozen beef, are subject to annual quotas based on U.S. production.

Until the lid was suspended, the revised 1972 quota was 1.24 billion pounds, estimated at about 7.3 per cent of U.S. output. Australia, the biggest supplier, was authorized to provide about 600 million pounds.

"I think it's safe to say we'll do all we can to exceed that level," the trade official said. "By how much, at this time, is difficult to say."

Last year, due mainly to U.S. dock strikes, Australia and other supplying countries fell short by 48 million pounds of meeting the 1971 quota of 1.16 billion pounds.

But this year, through April, meat imports have risen sharply. During the first four months, according to USDA figures, the shipments totaled 348.3 million pounds, an 8 per cent boost from a year earlier.

Australia's share of the January-April total was 165 million pounds, up 40 per cent from a year earlier. With that momentum, the trade official said, Australia is in good shape to boost total 1972 U.S. shipments sharply.

Mondovi man is placed on probation

ALMA, Wis.—A Mondovi man was placed on probation for three years Monday afternoon when he appeared in Buffalo County Court here for sentencing on a charge of statutory rape.

Donald Kummer, 22, also was ordered by Judge Gary Schlostein to undergo psychiatric examinations and obtain help from the West Central Mental Health Clinic here.

Other stipulations of his sentence: he is to spend the first 10 days of each of the three years in the Buffalo County jail and he is to pay $25 each month during the probationary period until the court-appointed attorney fees and court costs are paid.

Kummer was found guilty of having had sexual intercourse with a 14-year-old girl in Mondovi on Jan. 29. The verdict was delivered by a 12-member jury on June 9.

The accused was represented by Randall Morey, Mondovi. Prosecuting attorney was Roger Hartman, Buffalo County district attorney.

Innovations are stressed at CST

A two-week workshop designed to introduce educational innovations in curriculum, organization and technology and to provide participants first-hand knowledge of the enthusiasm in learning generated by individualized instruction in the elementary school is in progress at the College of Saint Teresa.

Among the topics for the more than 60 sessions offered educators are "Theater Games: Character Improvisations," "We Grade Eggs, Meat, Milk and Children — Evaluation," "The Child, a Spontaneous Learner," "Theory Behind Schools Without Failure."

The program is being directed by Sister Shirley Ann Schmitz of the Teresian education department, assisted by Sister Marilyn Blasius, Sister Eleanor Granger and Sister Margaret Louise Branton.

IN DESCRIBING the objectives of the "Education: Innovations and Trends" workshop, Sister Shirley Ann says, "Today's teachers need to understand the philosophy, the theory and methods involved in innovations in education. The college not only is offering a course about individualized, choice-centered education but has designed a course which simulates and immerses teachers in individualized and choice-centered education."

Participants from eight states meet each day to hear a main speaker and devote four hours in three or four different programs of their choice.

Classes include those on "The Gifted, Creative, Talented," "S (Team) Teaching, Teaching Dynamics," "Value Clarification" and "Head Start for Children." Each participant has a booklet in which choices of programs are listed, together with lists of available films, tapes and a master schedule.

"EACH teacher must map out her schedule for the day," says Sister Shirley Ann, "make her choices and realize the excitement and/or frustration of such choices. As one teacher said, 'What I liked best so far is being frustrated because I want to go out and think out and organize the many ideas and plans I've jotted down.'"

The director said evaluations have indicated an enthusiasm for the variety of offerings and "the freedom to move in and out of chats as needs arise or become apparent."

Head of meat supply firm predicts drop

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The head of a Chicago firm which supplies processed foreign beef to a Milwaukee food chain said Monday lifting of meat import quotas by President Nixon should result in 5 to 10 per cent price reductions for processed beef within a few months.

But Benjamin Schwartz of B. Schwartz, Inc., said he expected no "drastic price reductions."

Schwartz said Australia and New Zealand, which supply much of the foreign low grade beef to the U.S., probably will have a hard time fulfilling their normal quotas. However, he said, processed beef shipments from Ireland and Mexico could increase.

Schwartz agreed with the administration's opinion that lifting the quotas would tend to stabilize meat costs, rather than cause a sharp drop in prices.

James J. Casey, head of the Milwaukee Meat Council, said no nation could compete with the United States on the better quality beef cuts.

Drainpipe saves lives of two when car crashes

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Two young men owe their lives to a drainpipe.

Their sports car slid off a mountain road here and began the plunge down a 1,000-foot ravine—only to be stopped short 10 feet down by the pipe, which protruded from the slope.

The car teetered to a precarious balance on the pipe, and the two-driver Blaine Smith, 18, of Santa Ana, and John Eberly, 20, of Isla Vista—unfastened their seatbelts and got out of the car—very carefully. Neither was injured.

The car was recovered with cables.

House voting on efforts to pull out troops

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House votes today on efforts to order U.S. forces out of Indochina by Sept. 1 and to cut weapons costs by more than $1.6 billion below the level possible under the Moscow arms accords. Even the efforts' backers aren't predicting victories.

Before the House were amendments to cut President Nixon's money requests for the new Trident missile submarine, advanced B1 bomber, Safeguard antimissile system and other weapons.

Backers of the amendments, led by Reps. Robert L. Leggett, D-Calif., and Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., have argued that the U.S.-Soviet arms-limitation accords were supposed to cut weapons spending.

Nixon had asked for $22.8 billion for weapons, but the House Armed Services Committee cut the amount to $21.3 billion, with about a third of the cut attributable to the arms accords. The amendments proposed to cut the weapons authorization bill another $1.6 billion.

But House Armed Services Chairman F. Edward Hebert, D-La., said in opening debate on the bill Monday that rejection of the weapons because of the arms accords "would be the most dangerous game we could play with our national defense."

Amendments to order U.S. forces out of Indochina by Sept. 1 and prohibit bombing of water dikes in North Vietnam were to be offered by Reps. Michael J. Harrington, D-Mass., and Abner J. Mikva, D-Ill.

Soviet trip, arms limit gets massive public OK

Harris Survey

By a massive 82-11 percent the American people viewed with approval President Nixon's summit trip to the Soviet Union, and by an almost identical 80-12 percent margin, the public gives its stamp of approval on the agreement to limit the manufacture of nuclear defensive (ABM) missiles.

In fact, all of the agreements reached at the summit meetings in Moscow received at least 80 percent or better endorsement from the American people in a special Harris Survey among 1,401 households conducted June 7-12th:

● By 81-12 percent, the public approves the U.S.-Russian agreement to cooperate closely in future space programs.

● By 82-9 percent, a majority of the people think well of the two countries setting up a joint commission to open trade between the two countries.

● By 84-7 percent, a majority of the public approve the U.S.-USSR pact pledging to avoid attacks on each other's naval vessels.

● By an even higher 90-5 percent, public approval is given to the agreement to undertake joint health and medical research projects.

● Finally, by 92-4 percent, the people approve of the pledge of both countries to work together to try to control air and water pollution.

AS OCCURRED in the wake of President Nixon's earlier visit to Peking, the Moscow summit journey appears to be paying handsome political dividends for Mr. Nixon. He increased his lead over his prospective opponents for the White House from 2 to 12 points as a direct result of his achievements in Russia.

When questioned in depth about the implications of the Nixon trip on future developments in the world, the people expressed a fair degree of caution. A substantial 58-23 percent majority said that they agree "a whole new period of more peaceful relations between the U. S. and Russia has opened up."

However, the public draws a sharp distinction between improving U.S.-Russian relations and any broad and sweeping conclusion that the course of world affairs will change overnight.

What the public demonstrates in its underlying attitudes about the summit is a sense of deep caution not to expect too much progress in easing East-West tensions in one fell swoop. Rather, the public sees the Moscow summit as a historic breakthrough, but merely a first promising step on a long road toward easing tensions.

THE APPETITE for further agreements with the Russians and the Chinese was evident in the results of another question which asked the public how dangerous it feels it is to make agreements with communist nations. By a decisive 59-29 percent, a majority of the people reject the notion that "it is dangerous to make agreements with communist countries."

These results all indicate that the Nixon summit exercise has been widely viewed with high success by the American people. Their overall reaction was summed up in the question which asked:

"In general, do you approve or disapprove of President Nixon having gone to the summit meeting in Russia?"

NIXON TRIP TO MOSCOW
Total Public

Approve 82
Disapprove 11
Not sure 7

There is little doubt that both the trip and the agreements reached were not only non-controversial with the public, but have been warmly applauded by the American people since the President's return. Some politicians might view the journey with cynicism, citing its timing to help in a Presidential election year. But even at that, these results rather conclusively show that such journeys to bring peace closer are good politics, all the same.

15 die in fire in Philippines

MANILA (AP) — Fifteen persons, some too weak to flee, died of suffocation, shock or heart attack when fire of undetermined origin damaged a nine-story hospital early today, a hospital spokesman said.

Some patients were unaccounted for after the post-midnight confusion.

The three-hour blaze started in the wooden outpatient annex of Manila's Family Clinic and Hospital and sent patients rushing blindly through smoke-filled corridors in search of exits, police said.

Some patients and staff members on the second and third floors tied sheets together and slid to safety. Firemen rescued others with skyladders. One nurse fell from a fourth-floor ledge and was in critical condition.

One patient was in the delivery room and was brought down on a ladder. She completed the delivery safely in another hospital, police said.

Northern Minnesota man dies in crash

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The death of a northern Minnesota man has raised the state's 1972 highway toll to 335, compared with 413 a year ago.

Authorities said Harry Jergens, 62, Staples, died Monday while being transferred from a Staples hospital to one at St. Cloud. He was injured Saturday when his car left a road on the northern outskirts of Staples and rolled over.

Meanwhile, authorities received the belated report of the death of Martin R. Ness, 35, Rosemount, Minn., Friday night in a two-car collision on a highway near Dryden, Man.

Energy-environmental question to be studied

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) — Fearful that the predicted energy crisis will lead to wholesale mining of high-sulfur coal from the Midwest and subsequent air pollution, governors of Midwest states have decided to have state experts study the energy-environmental question.

Gov. Robert Ray of Iowa told the 15-state Midwest Governors Conference Monday that, "If we in the Midwest can work together and solve the problem of extracting the sulfur from the coal that is mined in an environmentally acceptable way, within a reasonable cost, we will have achieved a worthy goal."

The governors accepted Ray's invitation to convene a conference in Iowa of state experts to discuss the energy-environmental question.

Ray told the annual meeting of Midwest governors that coal may have to supply part of the answer to the expected energy shortage, since nuclear plants will be able to meet only the basic electrical needs of the nation.

The Iowa governor pointed out that 45 per cent of the nation's coal reserves are in the 15-state Midwest region, but said much of it is high-sulfur coal that causes air contamination when burned.

Although not in attendance, Gov. Wendell Ford of Kentucky advised other governors to act quickly or resign themselves to merely carrying out federal policy in the energy field.

Ford, who underwent surgery Monday at Houston, Tex., submitted a prepared statement through an aide saying that removal of sulfur from coal is the critical question if coal is to be used for meeting electrical energy demands.

"If answers are not found, we soon will be faced with a critical decision," Ford said, "Do we take a vast amount of the nation's coal fields out of production, or do we continue pollution of the air?"

Gov. Robert Docking of Kansas said he disagrees both with "doomsday environmentalists" who forecast crisis unless electrical use is curtailed, and those who claim that technology can solve the problem.

"The future of our nation and mankind depends upon a realistic path somewhere between those two extremes," Docking told the other governors.

The 12 governors attending the three-day meeting, their wives and aides attended an outdoor buffalo barbecue Monday night at Camp Lincoln, now a state park, but once the Army post where Gen. George Custer's troops left for their last stand.

Today's agenda includes separate caucuses of Democratic and Republican governors.

The conference's member states are Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Dakota, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

Recalculation shows McGovern 16.75 votes short of victory

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George McGovern has backed off his claim of enough delegate votes to win the Democratic presidential nomination and now says the prize still dangles just out of his grasp.

McGovern strategists figured late Monday that the candidate holds 1,492.75 delegate commitments, a scant 16.75 short of the number needed.

The turnout came after a recalculation showed McGovern erred earlier Monday in claiming to have topped the magic 1509 figure with 1½ votes to spare.

His chief rival, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, clung to the hope that the party's Credentials Committee would trim more delegates from the McGovern column by parceling out the 271 delegate votes from California's winner-take-all primary.

Success of that effort, said Humphrey, who lags a remote second in the delegate count, "could change the whole ball game."

McGovern traveled the South today, courting Southern Democrats who disagree with him on key campaign issues.

He left supporters in Washington to protect his interests in the Democratic National Convention's Platform Committee, where they won initial acceptance Monday for planks in line with McGovern's viewpoints on the Vietnam war and income payments to replace the welfare system.

Before leaving on the swing through Southern and border states, McGovern told a Washington news conference he had won the support of 96.75 votes held by uncommitted black delegates—enough to guarantee him more than the 1,509 votes needed to win the nomination.

"There is no question now," the South Dakota senator said, "that this is enough to put us over the top in July on the first ballot." McGovern's claim immediately came under fire from dissenting blacks and a Humphrey aide who said the figure of new support had been inflated. Later in the day, McGovern strategists admitted the error.

The latest tally by The Associated Press of first-ballot strength, which doesn't include the new black support for McGovern, gives him 1,338.15—still 171 short of the number needed for nomination.

Anti-McGovern forces, particularly Humphrey, are placing considerable stress on the California challenge which, if successful, could take away 151 of McGovern's delegates and distribute them on a proportional basis among his California primary foes.

Burke Marshall, a former assistant attorney general serving as the hearing examiner in the case, heard arguments Monday and will report to the full panel on whether there were viola-

Buffalo county GOP is host to elected officials

ALMA, Wis. — The Buffalo County Republican executive committee hosted the county elected officials, all of whom are elected Republicans, at a Monday noon luncheon.

Roger L. Hartman, Buffalo County district attorney and GOP county chairman, conducted the meeting.

Plans were made for the 1972 county election to coincide with the campaign of Rep. Vernon Thomson, who is running for that seat once again in the newly enlarged 3rd District.

Each candidate began circulating his nomination papers for 200 signatures in the county on June 1 and have to have them filed with Gale Hoch, county clerk, by July 11.

The county officers will sponsor a GOP fair booth at the Buffalo County Free Fair in Mondovi on Aug. 3-6. A caravan is planned throughout Buffalo County, with Rep. Thomson, in September.

Wisconsin bureau on industry will cut spending

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations announced a 3 per cent spending cutback Monday for the coming fiscal year, in line with Gov. Patrick J. Lucey's fat trimming directives to state agencies.

Lucey last month asked each agency to trim fiscal 1973 budgets at least 2.5 per cent to allow funding for new state programs in 1973-75. Industry, Labor and Human Relations said its cutback would save taxpayers $120,000.

The department also said cost cutbacks in the current fiscal year would produce a $37,000 savings when the period ends Friday.

Ballman-Daskam vows repeated at Harmony

HARMONY, Minn. — Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Ballman (Jo Ann Daskam) are home at Le Center, Minn., following their June 10 marriage at the United Methodist Church here and a honeymoon through Northern Minnesota and Michigan.

The Rev. Thomas Rogers and the Rev. Raymond Swanson heard the nuptial vows from the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerold Daskam, Harmony, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ballman, Waterville, Minn.

Mrs. Richard Reuter, organist, accompanied Marie Cassidy and Mary Hughes, soloists.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of silk organza designed on empire lines with bishop sleeves and a slightly gathered skirt. Chantilly lace motifs trimmed the bodice and train. Her husband, a graduate of Le Center High School, attends Winona State College.

The bride was feted at several pre-nuptial parties.

Don't bury parental love until it's too late

DEAR ABBY: My father wrote to you at least 12 years ago and you put his letter in your column. (You reprinted it twice on request.) My father had it framed and when we brought him here last year to live with us, he carried it in his hands for fear it might get damaged or lost.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

When he heard that his letter had been framed and hung in the chapel of a cemetery, he said, "What a pity it will be seen only by those for whom it is too late. It would accomplish more posted on a bulletin board in a high school."

Abby, he made me promise that after he died I would write and ask you to run it once more. He died one week ago today (at 72), so I hope you will print it once more in memory of my beloved father. Here it is:

"DEAR ABBY: I am the most heartbroken person in the world. I could always find the time to go everywhere else, but never time to go visit Mom and Dad. They sat at home alone and loving me just the same. It's too late now to give them those few hours of happiness I was too selfish and too busy to give. Now when I go to their graves and see the green grass above them, I wonder if God will ever forgive me for the heartaches I must have caused them when they were alive. I pray to God that those who still have their parents to visit, do so, and show their love and respect while there is still time, for it's later than you think."

DEAR ABBY: While my wife and I were at the movies last evening, a middle-aged woman sitting next to my wife spilled some popcorn on my wife's new suede coat. The butter stains were immediately visible.

I called it to the lady's attention, and all she said was, "Oh, I'm so sorry."

I then whispered to my wife that it would cost about $8 to have her coat cleaned and I was going to suggest to the lady that she should pay for the cleaning. My wife told me not to make a scene, so I kept my mouth shut.

We left the theater and that was that.

Abby, would I have been out of line to have asked the lady to pay for having my wife's coat cleaned?

DEAR BEFUDDLED: No. And you wouldn't have been out of line had you asked the theater manager to pop for the cleaning. (This is a new way to "butter up" customers.)

DEAR ABBY: If you can stand just one more letter about whether to share prize recipes, here it is:

I have a number of excellent recipes, and I have always given them to anyone who asked for them. Like you, my philosophy was, "Do I enjoy something less because someone else enjoys it, too?"

My generosity paid off when I lost one of my favorite recipes. (It was Spanish rice with about 16 ingredients.) I simply telephoned a friend to whom I had given it, and she gave it back to me.

Now, where would I have been if I had refused to share my best recipes?

DEAR HELEN: Out of luck! Good for you. I'm sure many others (including this writer) have had the identical experience.

DEAR ABBY: Sorry to inform you that your husband is not the world's best salesman. My ex-husband is.

He sold my former best friend on the idea that he would make a better husband than her own. I expect any day to hear that he has been called up before the Better Business Bureau for false advertising.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L.A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Money Does Matter . . .

Want to spend less on groceries?

1.—Always prepare a list of items needed before you visit the store. And hold to the list.

2.—Prepare these lists from menus ahead. Plan to use leftovers. Plan menus flexible enough to include food bargains.

3.—Take advantage of bargains in seasonal foods, as reported by the Department of Agriculture and news media.

4.—Study the weekly food ads and take note of "loss leader" bargains. But, be wary of dash-line all over town for "bargains." Gasoline and car maintenance are expensive — currently about 10¢ to 11¢ per mile!

You CAN save money as you spend, if you plan ahead!

Before You Buy. . .

By Margaret Dana

Is it safe for food?

Q. I have written before but never seen an answer to my question in print. Would you please try to answer this as soon as possible? Would a latex-backed throw rug laid on top of carpeting be harmful to the carpeting? I have heard that it was.

A. Carpet experts say that while this use of a small rug on top of carpeting would not probably damage the carpet fibers, it can cause the surface pile of the carpet to be compressed so badly it will be difficult to restore to its normal resilience. If the carpet has a low pile, looped, and set close, the use of a small rug to take the brunt of heavy traffic at an entrance, etc., can be useful, and will not compress the pile.

Q. Could you please help me out and tell me if the charges made by a service station for installing new points in my car are legal? They put in new points March 14, and the car had to go back April 10 for service. The mechanic said the new points they had put in were defective. They said I didn't have to pay for the second set of points, but had to pay $4.50 for labor.

Is it fair for the consumer to have to pay for labor when the parts they put in were defective? Is there any guarantee on things like that?

A. It is not reasonable for this second charge for labor to be made if the service mechanic is responsible for putting in defective points. Whether the maker of those points provides a guarantee to the dealer or the customer would make a difference in the situation. He should make up the extra cost to the dealer for labor in replacing the parts. Check with your county or state Consumer Protection Office for advice on what you could properly do in this case.

St. Martin's Lutheran Church was the setting for the June 9 exchange of vows between Miss Deborah Faye Gady, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Gady, 553 E. Broadway, and Jerry P. Steinfeldt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Steinfeldt, Houston, Minn.

The Rev. Kenneth Krueger officiated at the exchange and Hans Kiebusch, organist, accompanied Bob Gronewald, soloist.

THE BRIDE chose a gown of silk organza with daisies trimming the puffed sleeves, the bodice and train. Her silk illusion veil was held by a cluster of daisies and she carried a bouquet of white carnations, roses and stephanotis.

Miss Rosalind Snell, Winona, was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Donna Sebo, Miss Connie Erickson and Mrs. Roger Steinfeldt. The attendants wore floral gowns of chiffon with contrasting floral arrangements in their hair. Each carried a matching bouquet.

Lynn Malewicki was flower girl.

ROGER Steinfeldt, Winona, was best man and groomsmen were Lee Campbell, Dave Meyer and Rich Nelsentuen. Ushers were David Miranda and Randy Gady.

A reception took place at the American Legion Club. The bride was graduated from Winona Senior High School and is employed by Haddads Cleaners. Her husband, a graduate of Houston High School, is engaged in farming.

The couple are home at Houston, Minn.

The bride was feted at several pre-nuptial parties.

Hull signs WHA pact— $2.5 million

By PAT THOMPSON
ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Bobby Hull, the leading active scorer in the National Hockey League, signed the first half of a contract today that will give him $2.5 million to serve as player and coach for the Winnipeg Jets of the World Hockey Association.

"Everything is as prescribed," said Ed Fitkin, assistant to WHA President Gary L.

where a second ceremonial signing would be held at the intersection of Portage and Main about 4:30 p.m. (CDT).

Hull, 33-year-old left winger, ranks as the second-leading scorer in NHL history with 604 regular season career goals, second only to Gordie Howe's 786.

Davidson. "People will realize that we are here to stay."

Davidson left his Santa Ana, Calif., offices late Monday with a cashier's check for $1 million to present to Hull at a 10 a.m. (CDT) news conference in St. Paul.

Hull and WHA officials arrived at the news conference in a $100,000 Rolls Royce escorted by a police motorcade.

After the news conference, the WHA party boarded a chartered flight to Winnipeg,

Some of the other established NHL players who already have jumped to the new league include winger Johnny McKenzie, goalie Bernie Parent, center Eddie Joyal, winger Wayne Connelly and defenseman Brad Selwood and Rick Ley.

WHA officials figure Hull's signing will open the gates for even more players to join a league that was formed late in 1971.

The WHA has franchises in Alberta, Chicago, Cleveland, Houston, Los Angeles, Minnesota, New England, New York, Ottawa, Philadelphia, Quebec and Winnipeg.

"We've got a well-rounded 12-team league," said Fitkin. "Every time we've run into a problem, we've come out of it stronger than before. We did have a couple of shaky franchises but we've worked out the problems. For example when Miami dropped out, Philadelphia came in with what looks like one of our stronger teams."

Twins down Angels 7-4

Oliva due for more surgery

By PAT THOMPSON

ST. PAUL (AP) — Ray Corbin's pitching and Eric Soderholm's grand slam were clouded in the Minnesota Twins' clubhouse by an announcement that Tony Oliva is due for more surgery.

"I don't have any choice," Oliva said grimly as he peeled off his uniform, probably for the last time until at least September.

Oliva, the 1971 American League batting champion, underwent surgery on his right knee last September for removal of torn cartilage. The knee did not respond during spring training, and he missed the first two months of the season. He then was activated for 10 games and hit .321 but limped badly in the outfield.

As the Twins downed the California Angels 7-4 Monday night, it was announced Oliva would be deactivated and scheduled for more surgery "as soon as is practical."

"He told me it hurts him everyday," said Twins Manager Bill Rigney. "The other day he stepped on a curb in Kansas City, the knee buckled and he fell down."

"It's better that he goes into surgery now and maybe be back in September. This way he'll know if his knee is going to be sound without worrying about it through the entire winter like last year. I'm sure he's worried right now if it's ever going to be any good."

Steve Brye will be activated in Oliva's place.

Soderholm, a rookie third baseman who has committed only three errors in 44 games, clouted his seventh homer of the season and his first grand slam of his career off Eddie Fisher in the seventh inning to stake Corbin to a 7-0 lead.

Corbin, making his first start, entered the eighth with a four-run lead. He gave up a single to John Stephenson. Errors by Danny Thompson and Corbin produced one run and Vada Pinson greeted reliever Wayne Granger with a three-run homer.

"Our relievers haven't been able to get the first man out lately," said Rigney. "I thought Corbin did one heck of a job, considering he hadn't pitched in 17 days and was making his first start.

"He's going to start at least two more games the next week."

Angel Manager Del Rice said of his team's rally, "One of our problems this year is that we seem to get behind early and always have to come back."

Pinson remembered facing Granger only twice before in

Buchanan deposed by Duran

NEW YORK (AP) Roberto Duran, winner of the world's lightweight boxing championship on a bizarre note, was unmiffed by controversy shrouding the bout while deposed title holder Ken Buchanan admitted he didn't know what happened.

Duran, a mauling 21-year-old former street fighter from Panama, won the crown Monday night at Madison Square Garden when Buchanan was ruled unfit to continue after collapsing from an apparent low blow after the 13th round of the 15-rounder had ended.

Duran landed a smashing right to the head just as the bell sounded and the two continued to exchange blows. Suddenly, Buchanan pitched forward onto the canvas and writhed in pain while clutching his groin. He was helped to his corner and referee Johnny LoBianco halted the fight.

"Buchanan had taken a terrific pounding," LoBianco said. "The bell rang and they didn't hear it. Duran landed a hard blow in the solar plexus area. It was a fair blow."

Bedlam erupted after the fight ended, with Duran's supporters among the 18,821 who paid $223,901 to attend the bout leaping about, waving Panamanian flags and attempting to climb into the ring.

"I just felt a terrific pain between my legs," Buchanan said later after he had showered and changed into street clothes. "They helped me to my corner and then the referee said I couldn't come out. I told him I could keep boxing but he said 'You're not coming out.'"

Duran, a 2-1 underdog who recorded his 25th knockout in winning all of his 29 starts, claimed he struck Buchanan with a "good right hand to the stomach. A lot of boxers try to make you think they were hit low because they are losing. I won it legally."

The brutal, aggressive, swarming onslaught of Duran gave him a wide edge on the officials' cards. LoBianco gave Duran eight of the first 12 rounds, tabbed three for Buchanan and scored one even. Judge Bill Recht had it 9-2-1 for Duran and judge Jack Gordon had the winner in front 8-3-1. The Associated Press had Duran ahead 9-3.

Seeded No. 4 at Wimbledon

Miss Evert's dream comes true

By GEOFFREY MILLER
WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — "Ever since I was a little girl," said Chris Evert, "I dreamed of playing in the Wimbledon championships. And now it's come true."

The 17-year-old tennis princess from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., was scheduled for her first Wimbledon match today knowing that a crowd of 15,000 was waiting to see her.

"I'm not worried," Chris said. "I was at first, when I was just another school girl.

But I'm getting used to the publicity now."

The fair-haired American girl has had two weeks of glory in England. First, she led the United States to victory over Britain in the Wightman Cup. Then, last Saturday, she won the Women's title in the London Grass Court Championships at the Queen's Club.

Here, in the All-England championships, she is seeded No. 4—behind defending champion Evonne Goolagong of Australia, Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., and Nancy Richy Gunter of San Angelo, Tex.

Miss Evert and Miss Goolagong never have played each other. But if they win their matches as expected, they will clash in the semifinals.

Miss Evert has made a deep impression in Britain with her patient baseline game.

Julie Heldman, U.S. Wightman Cup player from New York City, said: "Chris could win the Wimbledon title by simply wearing her opponents down with her precision ground strokes."

That is exactly what she has done in all her matches in Britain.

But Vic Edwards, Miss Goolagong's coach, thinks Chris can be beaten.

"We have yet to see what she can do against a player like Evonne, who has a greater variety of shots," Edwards said.

Chris had to play Valerie Ziegenfuss of San Diego, Calif., in the first round today. Miss Goolagong was paired against Marilyn Pryde of New Zealand and Mrs. King faces Sharon Walsh of San Rafael, Calif.

Jim Connors, the 19-year-old left-hander from Belleville, Ill., fashioned the biggest upset on opening day Monday. He eliminated seventh seeded, Bob Hewitt of South Africa 6-3, 9-7, 7-5.

Stan Smith last year's losing finalist and this year's favorite, overpowered Hans Joachim Plotz of West Germany 6-1, 6-1, 6-3 in an impressive start.

Ilie Nastase of Romania, the No. 2 seed, won almost as easily—6-4, 6-2, 6-2 over John Bartlett of Australia.

Tanniehill advances in Greco-Roman trials

ANOKA, Minn. — Jim Tanniehill, former Winona State College wrestling champion, advanced to today's fourth round of the Olympic Greco-Roman wrestling trials here Monday.

Tanniehill won all three of Monday's matches at 163 pounds—a division higher than he had planned to compete in. He was unable to make weight at the 140.5 class, however.

Tanniehill, 21, defeated Dan Chandler of Champlin 14-0, pinned Alan Hay of Gillette, N.J., in 0:41 and nipped Tom Sherman of Berkeley, Calif., in a decision in the third round.

The 1969 WSC grad has 1 1/2 black marks going into today's round. Six marks eliminate a wrestler, but Tanniehill is still in contention for one of the top three places that would advance him to the Olympic training camp at the University of Minnesota next month.

Jim Tanniehill

to compete at 140.5 if he makes the camp.

Twin brothers Jim and Dave Hazewinkel of Anoka were among the standouts Monday as some 150 wrestlers started the competition. Only 30 will advance to join 30 freestylers at a training camp July 25 to determine the final 20-man U.S. team.

Dave won all three of his matches Monday by pins in the 125 1/2-pound division of the sport that allows only use of the upper body.

The Hazewinkels were members of the 1968 U.S. Olympic team, and Jim gave the United States its highest finish ever in the games, a sixth place.

Jim Hazewinkel, a 136 1/4-pounder, won four matches, three by wide margins and one by pin.

Chris Taylor, the heavy-weight who dominated freestyle competition, opened his Greco-Roman competition with a pin. Hank Schenk, another freestyle winner at 220, also won with a fall.

The trials conclude tonight.

Voelker wins Legion tourney

Mike Voelker successfully defended his title in the 22nd annual Leon J. Wetzel Post No. 97 American Legion Golf Tournament held at the Westfield Golf Course Sunday.

Voelker, who carded a two-under-par score of 70 last year on the old course layout, duplicated that effort Sunday on the expanded course with a score of 37 for his first nine holes and a record-tying 33 for his second round.

Only Voelker and Dennis Cleveland have registered scores of three-under-par on the new layout.

Voelker was the only golfer out of the 92 entrants in the tourney to record a sub-par score. Mike Kowalczyk and Jerry Van Hoof finished in a tie for second in the championship flight with scores of 75, and Bob Sexton and Jim Englerth wound up in a tie for fourth with 79's.

First flight honors went to Bill Browne with a score of 63. W. L. "Wib" Holzer won the second flight with an 87, and the winner of the third flight with a 90 was Donald Klagge.

Ray Bambenek copped fourth flight honors with a 92. Herbie Lea won the fifth flight with a 97, and Ed Hemmelman took the sixth flight with a 101.

VFW Peanuts win Goodview tourney

The Winona VFW Peanuts won the second annual Goodview Invitational Baseball Tournament for boys 14-years-old and under held over the weekend.

The Peanuts disposed of Whitehall 7-2 in the championship game of the eight-team tourney. En route to the finals, the Winona contingent whipped Fountain City 13-3 and then eked out a 1-0 triumph over host Goodview.

Goodview wound up as the consolation champion after outlasting St. Charles 12-10. St. Charles was later presented with a Good Sportsmanship Award.

Gophers to begin football practice on August 25

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The Minnesota Gophers will begin football practice for the 1972 season Aug. 25 with two a-day sessions and a third for incoming freshmen.

"We'll likely have a third practice each day for the freshmen to try to get more familiar with what we are trying to do," said Coach Cal Stoll.

Freshmen will be eligible to play for the first time next fall. Before practice opens, the Memorial Stadium scoreboard and press box will be improved. Figures and letters will be arranged so that the scoreboard can be read more easily.

In the press box, formica counter tops will replace wood ones. Carpeting will also be installed.

A feasibility study on whether to dome the stadium is to be completed by Aug. 1.

Mindoro wins Waumandee tourney

WAUMANDEE, Wis. — Mindoro won the title in the third annual Waumandee Softball Tournament held here over the weekend by nipping Whitehall 1-0 in the championship game.

Defending champion Dan & Mark's had to settle for the consolation title after trimming the Club 4-Mile Bar 6-4, and Fall Creek third place honors by blanking Dan's Bar of Arcadia.

GT, Oasis II romp to wins in Class A

CLASS A SOFTBALL
Green Terrace 7 & Quality Chev. 4, 9
Oasis II 7 & Winner's Circle 0 13
Raiders 6 & Razor's Edge 0 13

Green Terrace and Oasis II romped to victory over the two cellar teams Monday night to remain in a tie for first place in the Class A fast-pitch league.

Green Terrace walloped the Razor's Edge 16-2 for its seventh win on the strength of a home run and triple off the bat of Rollie Austin, a 4-for-4 performance by Sam Nottelman, and John Ernster's fourth pitching.

Oasis II shelled the Winner's Circle with five homers and breezed to an 18-2 triumph. Bill Gilbertson belted two round-trippers and drove in three runs for the winners. Steve Stockhausen and Mark Patterson both collected a homer and three RBIs, and Dave Czaplewski also clouted one out. Winning pitcher Paul Fay tossed a three-hitter for his seventh victory of the season.

In the other loop contest, Randall's edged Quality Chev. 9-8 after breaking loose for eight runs in the fifth and sixth innings. The big blow for the winners was a three-run homer by Mike Erdmanczyk in the sixth. Paul Swanson had a home run for Quality.

John McDonald picked up the victory for Randall's, and Roger Buege took the loss.

By GORDON BEARD
BALTIMORE (AP) — A double reverse involving football franchises apparently has been set in motion, with only the Internal Revenue Service standing in the way of a successful play.

Every day, there is new evidence that the Los Angeles Rams will be sold and then traded to Carroll Rosenbloom in exchange for the Baltimore Colts.

On Monday, sports columnist Melvin Durslag of the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner reported that prospective buyers had given the Rams' ownership a $5 million deposit.

Durslag said Robert Irsay of Skokie, Ill., and Willard "Bud" Keland of Racine, Wis., would purchase the Rams and then make the trade for the Colts.

Rosenbloom, who had hedged about such reports in the past, then told Cameron Snyder of the Baltimore Sun: "I have made a commitment. We will just have to wait and see if it can be worked out."

The biggest stumbling block is whether the IRS will permit a trade of the two franchises.

If such a deal is allowed, Rosenbloom would forestall a tax payment until such time as he would realize a profit from

Money crisis causes prices to turn soft

NEW YORK (AP) — Prices turned soft today as investors approached the stock market with caution because of uncertainty over the international monetary situation. Trading was slow.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was down 1.21 at 835.20, after being ahead more than 2 points in early trading.

Advances led declines by about 6 to 5 among issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said that investors appeared reluctant to make market commitments until there were some signs of the dollar firming on European markets.

They said investors had taken some encouragement from the Common Market decision to back the Smithsonian Accord after Britain's floating of the pound.

Among the large blocks traded before noon were 267,700 shares of General Tire & Rubber at 27 1/4, down 3/4, and 83,100 shares of Chrysler at 31 1/4, up 1/4.

Twins' radio-TV rights extended

ST. PAUL (AP) — The Minnesota Twins and Midwest Federal Savings & Loan Association jointly announced Monday extension of the sponsorship of radio-television rights through the 1979 season.

The Twins originally had sold the sponsorship rights to the financial institution for a five-year period ending in 1975.

A Twins' official said the new contract, now running 10 years, is one of the longest broadcast associations in major league baseball.

By GORDON BEARD
BALTIMORE (AP) — A direct sale of the Colts would cost Rosenbloom a capital gains tax of $3.5 million or more, since he is believed to have pledged only about $15,000 when he became president of the Baltimore franchise in 1963.

Because of the huge tax saving, Rosenbloom undoubtedly will explore the trade possibility before talking about a straight cash purchase of the Rams.

For that reason, a report by Los Angeles sportscaster Jim Healy of radio station KLAC on Monday that Rosenbloom had bought the Rams for $17 million, seemed a bit premature.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle of the National Football League denied that Rosenbloom had purchased the Rams and President William A. Barnes of the Rams indicated a more complicated deal may be in the works.

"There are a lot of tax angles to be considered, plus the approval of the league and the courts," he said.

Rosenbloom's desire to shift his business interests to the West Coast gained impetus with his recent appointment to the board of directors at Warner Brothers motion picture corporation.
